

CONFIRM GRAFT CHARGE IN U. S. OFFICE

Alvin M. Owsley, Texan, Elected Legion Chief

Wins Easily Over New York And Pennsylvania Candidates—New Commander Is 30 Years Old

By Associated Press
New Orleans, La.—Alvin M. Owsley of Texas was elected national commander of the American legion at the close of its fourth annual convention here Friday. The vote was overwhelming.

Mr. Owsley was carried on the shoulders of Texas legionnaires to a place on the platform beside the retiring commander, MacNider, who grasped his hand and then turned to the assembly. The Texas band broke loose.

While MacNider jerked the gong violently, "Bill" Deegan of New York led in the capitulation of defeated candidates and moved the vote to be unanimous. The vote was announced as follows:

A. F. Owsley, Texas, 574; William F. Deegan, New York, 251; H. Thompson, Pennsylvania, 205.

THANKS "BLDDIES"

Mr. Owsley was introduced by commander MacNider. "Please accept my heartfelt gratitude," he said, "for the greatest honor that could come to one who served in the World war. 'We pledged to America,' he continued, 'in the World war that we were her defenders. We must now pledge even greater service. There are four great principles on which we must rest:

- "Hospitalization."
- "Rehabilitation."
- "Adjusted compensation."
- "Americanization."

"I pledge the best energies of my manhood and my sacred honor."

DISTINGUISHED AT 30

Alvin M. Owsley, newly elected commander and acting director of the American Legion Americanism commission, when barely 30 years old, had gained distinction as a soldier and as a statesman in the Lone Star state. He had resigned a position as district attorney at the outbreak of the war to attend the training camp open to volunteers and had been assigned as a major in infantry in Thirty-sixth division. In this capacity, he had recruited his own battalion and a large portion of the division in northern Texas.

After serving as division insurance officer and senior instructor of the third officers training school at Camp Bowie, Mr. Owsley went overseas and took part in two major campaigns in Champagne and the Argonne.

After the armistice Mr. Owsley went to London where he attended the courts of law and studied English procedure.

While engaged in national work and speaking throughout the country in the interest of better citizenship Mr. Owsley retains his membership in the Arthur McNitzky post of the legion at Denton, Tex., his birth place.

FARMER DIES IN FIGHT OVER PIG

Shot Three Times By Neighbor After Quarrel, According To Witnesses

By Associated Press
Superior, Wis., Oct. 20, 40, a farmer living near Casey, Wis., died in a local hospital Friday from pistol wounds alleged to have been inflicted by A. R. Mills a neighbor, following a quarrel over a pig.

The shooting occurred at Casey late Thursday. According to report received by the authorities Mills accused Turner of stealing a pig. Both men went to the office of an attorney in an effort to settle the dispute. Following they left the office together.

Witnesses report that Mills pulled a revolver and fired three shots at Turner as the latter stepped into his buggy. Turner, although mortally wounded engaged Mills in a fist fight. They were separated by the town marshal.

Turner was rushed to a hospital where it was found that three bullets had penetrated vital organs of his body.

EIGHT KILLED, FOUR HURT, IN MINE BLAST

By Associated Press
McCurain, Okla.—Eight men were killed and four were badly injured in an explosion of gas in the Progressive Coal company's mine, a mile north of McCurain Friday morning.

The injured: Bill Taylor, Irving, Burl Strauss, Clarence Greenwald, Walter Brasher, Ed Edwards, John Sanders and Everett Seaton.

The injured: Bob Wallace, Roy Caldwell, Claude Everett and Joe Coppenger.

The injured were badly burned. Physicians say they are in a serious condition.

OPPOSE INDIAN BUREAU

Kansas—Members of the Society of American Indians, meeting here late Thursday adopted a resolution to wage an unrelenting campaign of propaganda and political activity directed toward the abolishment of the United States Indian bureau. The campaign will be instituted on the ground that the bureau is unfair to the Indians, deprives them of full citizenship and is devoted to fostering commercial interests.

Mercer, Conn.—Ralph De Palma was granted a stay of execution until Dec. 1, of his 10 day sentence for speeding when he pleaded he was under a $50,000 racing contract which demanded his services until Thanksgiving day.

Fooled Girl Chums With Rag Twins

Mania Of Playing Mother Gripped Woman, Held For Murder, When Child

By Associated Press
Hammond, Ind.—Two Chicago women who knew her as a child Friday went to the defense of Mrs. Hazel McNally, accused by her husband of killing the twin babes he says were born to her last December.

Hazel Hill the name by which Mrs. McNally was known as a child, possessed a mania for "playing mother" according to Mrs. G. A. Kahne, whose daughter Rhoda was a playmate of Hazel. At 16 the mania became so pronounced that the girl actually fooled her closest friends Mrs. Kahne said, made them believe she was to become a mother and later appeared with "twins" which at length turned out to be only dolls.

Another witness wanted to tell Mrs. McNally's progress "mother instinct" was Mrs. G. Azzato a girl hood chum whose story was similar to Mrs. Kahne's. The child "mother" always explained the disappearance of her "babies" by saying they were in a hospital Mrs. Azzato said.

CALL DOCTOR

Dr. W. W. Kelly of Green Bay it was said had been summoned to testify that he had performed an alleged operation on Mrs. McNally prior to her marriage to McNally as a result of which she was incapable of motherhood.

Green Bay—Records on population in Green Bay show that Mrs. Hazel McNally, defendant in the famous "doll case" was a resident of this city in 1919. According to the records she was listed under the name of June Russell but later was married assuming the name of Mrs. P. Allen. She had one child, a boy living here, who would now be about nine years of age.

Reports from Hammond, that a local physician would be called upon to testify as to an operation performed by him, were verified Friday by a physician here, who said he would probably go to Hammond soon and would "have some valuable testimony" hinging on the case.

WOMAN FLAYS GOV. BLAINE FOR SILENCE

Shocked At His Failure To Answer Klan Charges, Writes Sheboygan Leader

By Associated Press
Sheboygan — Gertrude Bowler, prominent in the woman suffrage movement, woman's clubs and the Democratic party, looks upon Governor John J. Blaine's failure to answer any of the questions submitted to him by the Democratic State Central committee in the controversy existing over the alleged Ku Klux Klan endorsement of the governor through the American Voters' league as a "snub."

In a letter to Governor Blaine Friday bearing upon the questions at issue Mrs. Bowler says she was shocked after reading in the papers of Governor Blaine's failure to answer the Democratic committee's questions. Mrs. Bowler in her letter says in part:

"If your attitude could be treated as that of a mere politician seeking to retain his hold upon some minor office one might overlook the fact that a fair, frank statement on your part as to the Ku Klux Klan and its political organization might endanger your own political prestige. . . . To denounce the Ku Klux Klan and then seemingly receive the support of its political organization as your refusal to state the facts implies, is a greater menace than to openly admit that you accepted the American Voters' league support, knowing their purposes and approving their designs."

CLAIM $500,000
By Associated Press
Chippewa Falls, Wis.—The Wisconsin Methodist Hospital and Home association filed a claim for $500,000 against the estate of the late R. D. Marshall, justice of the Supreme court, asserting that he had promised the association that amount.

Council Bluffs, Ia.—Six of the 41 postal clerks suspended here Thursday for alleged pilfering of the mails appeared before United States commissioner Byers Friday, entered pleas of guilty and were bound over to the federal grand jury.

URGE SHAKUP OF CHICAGO'S LAW MACHINE

District Attorney Cline's Office Target—Bootleggers Protected, Claim

By Associated Press
Chicago—Charges against the conduct of the office of United States district attorney at Chicago were found to be well founded by Edgar B. Tolman and John R. Montgomery, representing the Illinois and Chicago Bar associations, in a report to United States Attorney General Daugherty, made public Friday.

Responsibility for unsatisfactory conditions in the office was not charged against District Attorney C. F. Cline, the incumbent personally however, but the investigators recommended a reorganization of their office, appointment of a special prosecutor to dispose of promptly pending cases, that the district attorney be made responsible for the selection of his assistants and their subsequent conduct, declaring that "there can be no enforcement of the law until the district attorney is entirely freed from the possibility of political control."

FIND GRAFT

The investigators found that "there is not the slightest doubt that ever since the passage of the eighteenth amendment and the legislation to carry the same into effect, there has been traffic in intoxicating liquors, organized on a large scale and protected by bribery and corruption."

The reports of special examiners who examined the files in the district attorney's office showed that for a period of two years and a half, from Jan. 1, 1920 to June 30, 1922, that of 784 cases in which the accused were held to the grand jury, 560 were prohibition cases.

"A synopsis of the report has been sent to my department," Mr. Daugherty said. "I have just glanced over it. There is no reason why there should be any precipitate action taken. I will not be back at the department until next Monday."

UNCLE SAM HALTS COPPER'S 'STRIKE'

Port-Au-Prince, Haiti—A threatened strike of the capital's police force has been averted through the intervention of the American High Commissioner, Brig Gen John H. Russell.

A rumor that their pay was to be reduced one dollar per month brought Haiti's finest, so their letter to Commissioner Russell, ran to the direct of being deprived of their "worktime, hardware and harbor," or going out on strike. The present pay, the letter complained, was so insufficient that it was necessary "we should have women who give us food." The letter ended with the appeal "We hope, General, that like a good father, you will take pity on your devoted children, we hope for justice for our people in the presence of the whole world."

An investigation was promptly ordered through General Douglas C. McDougal, Chief of the Gendarmes under whom the police function. This showed that the rumored reduction had originated in the mind of a policeman who had been fined one dollar for a dirty rifle. As to the complaint about food, it was found that since the ration, the average gain in weight for the 230 members of the force had been nine pounds in the first month.

Reassured by the High Commissioner, the police are patrolling their beats and regulating traffic, well contented and redolent with their favorite brands of perfume and Haiti's capital slumbers peacefully at night.

Cheese Splits Smallest Republic Of World

Andorra—A piece of cheese threatens to disrupt the peace of Andorra, smallest and oldest republic in the world.

Neither the age nor the fragrance of the cheese has anything to do with it. It's the quantity.

The question is this: Shall the Bishop of Urgel be allowed as semiannual tribute two cheeses, as formerly, or only one cheese?

Political strife and schism revolve around these cheeses—which are six feet in circumference!

The "two-cheese party" insists that the Bishop of Urgel be satisfied with ancient custom, according to the "Acts of Paeagat" of 1288, the Magna Charta of Andorra, decreed that he should receive in addition to his salary of 460 francs two large cheeses and two hams twice a year.

Now comes the cry for government economy—and the birth of the "one-cheese party." These people believe that the bishop has been tasting too highly of the joys of life, that in his area of the high cost of living one cheese should suffice for one man's needs.

The bishop refuses to say what his cheese needs are, nor will he comment on his annual cheese capacity. He is going to let the people decide. And while they are deciding, this little republic of 175 square miles, perched high in the Pyrenean mountains is far more disturbed than they were during the World war.

British Cabinet Change Affects America's Policy

Lloyd George's Resignation Delays Coming Of English Debt Commission To The United States

By Associated Press
Washington—Developments in the British political situation following the fall of the Lloyd George government continued to hold close attention in both governmental and diplomatic circles here Friday. Outside of the immediate effect already felt in Washington of the postponement of the coming to this country of the British debt commission, however, the possibility of any further result as concerning the relations of the two governments, it was said, was to be gauged only in the light of developments and the success of Premier-designate Bonar Law's efforts to form a new cabinet.

LAW FORMING CABINET

London—Andrew Bonar Law appeared to the making rapid progress Friday in forming a cabinet to replace the fallen coalition government.

This was evidenced by the announcement that Marquis Curzon and the Earl of Derby, both men of influence and experienced cabinet ministers, have agreed to serve under him in any capacity.

Mr. Bonar Law cannot officially announce the formation of his ministry until he is elected head of the Unionist party to succeed Austen Chamberlain, but it is generally conceded that this election will be only a formality.

Meanwhile Mr. Lloyd George, bereft of his rank as premier but still giving evidence of retaining to the full the indomitable courage to the fighting spirit which have characterized his thirty years of political life was making his way along the first stage of his "trek into the wilderness" with those of his comrades who had remained faithful to his leadership.

It was equally certain that he would prove to be a difficult opponent in the coming battles as there are admittedly no powers such mastery of the art of politics as he.

The Unionists, the Liberals and the Laborites alike, were conferring and working intensely in an attempt to solve the problem confronting them. The former Premier Asquith, who was in the country when he heard of the collapse of Lloyd George's government, rushed back to town Friday morning to confer with his colleagues as to what line the Liberals should adopt.

JUMPS FROM PLANE 2,000 FEET IN AIR

Parachute Saves Race Winner As Machine Crashes To Earth

By Associated Press
Dayton—Leaping from his Loening monoplane in a parachute, when the plane began to wobble at a height of 2,000 feet above the ground of North Dayton Friday, Lieutenant H. R. Harris, chief of the flying section of McCook field, escaped death while his plane crashed to earth.

The plane, landing in the rear yard of a home in that part of the city was reduced to a mass of twisted wreckage. Lieutenant Harris came to earth several blocks away in a scrape about.

He was traveling at high speed in the pursuit model when it got beyond control. Lieutenant Harris' apparent realization that a fall was certain before he took to the parachute.

Harris won the commercial plane event in the Pulitzer races in Detroit last week flying the "honeymoon express" plane.

ROAD BUILDERS FIND MANY INDIAN GRAVES

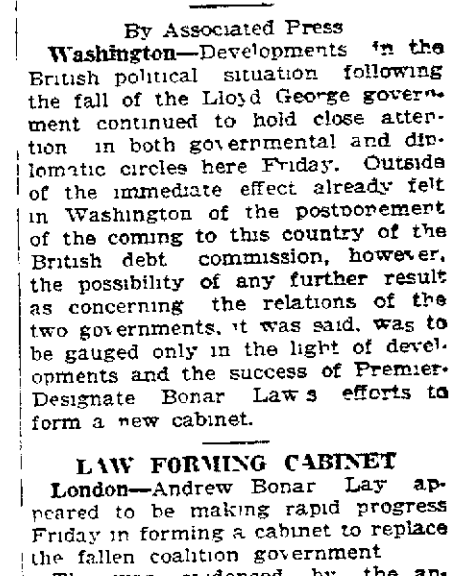

Hayward, Wis.—While building a road into the Moccasin resort on Couderay lake, workmen have unearthed numerous Indian graves. In one the skeleton was in a sitting posture. Many Indian arrows and other trophies were found. Later when E. L. Harmon, manager of the local telephone company was installing a phone at the resort the line had to be rearranged because Indian graves obstructed the placing of the poles. The Moccasin resort is a new club house on Lake Couderay that is owned by several Milwaukee people.

PLAN STEAM BUSES FOR NEW LINE ON SOUTH SIDE

Steam is to be used for motive power for the new buses to be operated between Appleton and Kaukauna on the south side of the river. The vehicles are to be provided with a set of 4 wheel trucks in the rear and two wheels in front. Two buses are to be used in the start and the bodies are being constructed along street car lines and one will be finished within the next few days. It will be operated by gasoline until the other bus is completed, when both will be equipped with steam engines. The bus line will be in operation late this fall and maintain a half hour schedule.

BONAR LAW

GEORGE GETS OVATION

Mr. Lloyd George received one of the most remarkable ovations ever witnessed in the Guild hall Friday afternoon when he rose to propose the health of Prince of Wales, who was guest of the corporation of the city at luncheon. For several minutes it was impossible for him to proceed and he was visibly affected. In his remarks he avoided reference to the political situation.

"My sword is in my hand," was the keynote of the farewell of Prime Minister Lloyd George to the great throng which gathered at St. Pancras station to give him an enthusiastic sendoff as he left for Leeds to deliver an address Saturday.

FIND DOCTOR'S BODY IN LAKE NASHOTAH

Milwaukee—Dr. Ralph Potter, 34, Grantwood N. J. and Midvale, Ill., was proved to have drowned in Lake Nashotah last Thursday when Capt. T. F. Boutin Milwaukee, located the physician's body today in 30 feet of water a short distance from the lower lake's shore line.

For 3 weeks Dr. Potter had been a patient at an Oconomowoc health resort. He eluded the watchfulness of nurses and other attendants at 2 a. m. last Thursday and walked away from the resort clad only in a bathrobe and pajamas.

The proximity of the lake led friends and relatives to suspect that he had taken his life.

ASHLAND PHYSICIANS FIGHT SMALL POX SPREAD

Ashland—With about a dozen cases of small pox in the city the health officers are working valiantly to prevent the spread of the disease. The school children have been vaccinated and the houses where the disease exists are under strict quarantine. There have been few new cases during the past week and the disease seems to have been stemmed out before it had gained much headway.

MOSCOW'S MERRY BEGGARS SERVE TEA WITH JOKES

Reopening Of Trade Brings Unfortunate Ones Back On Streets

By Associated Press

Moscow—The beggars of Moscow have been enjoying resumption of free trade under the Soviet regime nearly as much as the profiteers and speculators.

A year or so ago, when the government doled out everything to everybody, the aristocrat and the beggar alike, and money was of very little use, mendicants virtually disappeared from all their haunts at the various street corners. But with the reopening of trade, and when the daily parade of shoppers began anew, the beggars returned and apparently brought a lot of relatives and friends with them.

HAPPY LOT

The professional beggars of Moscow are a happy lot when off duty. They congregate in vacant lots and in nooks and corners of tumbled down buildings, where they gamble among themselves, joke and laugh, hold their feasts, apparently oblivious of the past or the future, and have quite as jolly a time as any group of average individuals. The non-professionals, the men and women of the latter class of other days who live only as a last resort, do not participate in these gatherings which are made up of the class which has always been beggars and knows nothing else of life.

Tea is served regularly at the beggars' resorts, the water being heated in big black kettles with a wood fire underneath. Tin cans and broken cups are brought into use by the various individuals, the scene in some respects resembling the camps of American tramps by the road side in summer.

HAVE BOSS BEGGAR

Late in the day or during the evening substantial food is served, the beggars paying the boss beggar in kind, or with a few rubles, for whatever they may eat from the mess. The boss beggar does not actually beg himself, his chief duties being to cook the food brought by the others and to carry to and from their places of "work" some of the beggars unable to walk or crawl because of their deformities.

When a beggars' feast is at its height, in Moscow, as much laughter and as much merry making may be heard as anywhere in Russia.

SCIENTISTS WORK TO HALT HOOKWORM

By Associated Press

San Juan, Porto Rico—Investigators of the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, studying the habits of the hookworm in Porto Rico, have ascertained two things about this parasite which they consider of great importance. One is that the larvae are shorter lived than had been supposed, and the second is that they possess only limited powers of locomotion.

The scientists are located at Utuado, in the heart of the coffee country. Some of them permitted themselves to be inoculated in order better to carry on their work. They declare that a life span of the larvae of from two to three months is probably the average, except under most favorable conditions for longevity. Ordinarily the larvae do not move of their own accord more than a foot or so from their eggs unless they are seized with an ambition to work up through the soil. In this case they can work through a soil covering of considerable more than one foot. The larvae seem to have a greater capacity or inclination for altitude than they do for cross country travel.

The studies which are now being made were undertaken with the hope that they would lead to improved methods of preventing the spread of possible infection and, while the work has not yet been completed, the discovery of the relatively short life of the larvae has convinced the investigators that the possibility of infection from any locality can be very much reduced provided new sources of infection are not introduced.

MANY NOVEL TRICKS IN PEDDLING DOPE

London—Scotland Yard is conducting an intensive campaign against west end drug traffickers whose activities of late are said to have greatly increased. Some of the methods used in delivering drugs to the purchaser are described in a recent report.

"Fourth lamp post on the right," a trafficker whispers in the ear of a cocaine victim. He passes down the street, and with the aid of chewing gum fixes a little white packet on the fourth lamp post. The purchaser follows at a discreet distance and removes the packet.

Another trafficker drops rolled omnibus tickets on the pavement. He is followed by a string of clients who pick up the tickets, which of course contain cocaine.

Another throws an apparently empty match box into the gutter. A minute or so later a customer picks it up and extracts one or more packets of cocaine.

Another trafficker keeps the drug in the turned up ends of his trousers. He advises his customers where he will walk, and as he goes along he stops as if to fasten his bootlace. In this way he is placing a packet of cocaine on a doorstep, whence a customer picks it up.

HAITI INCREASES 3 BIRTHS TO DEATH

Port-au-Prince, Haiti—With a ratio of three births to each death, as shown by vital statistics for the first six months of 1922, Haiti is rapidly increasing in population and is free from race suicide. A striking phase of this increase is that the difference in male and female babies is negligible. The gradual adoption of American methods, the improvement of the agricultural yield, and the cessation of Haitian revolutions with their considerable toll of deaths and hardships that were reflected in succeeding generations are responsible for the marked increase in a naturally prolific people. Last year the ratio increase was 2 to 1.

Haiti's native population, when she revolted against France in 1791, was slightly over half a million. Today it is estimated at 2,500,000, a steady and normal increase.

Prior to the American occupation no vital statistics were collected by the Haitian government. Estimates of the population were made by the French priests and generally accepted. A system inaugurated by the American sanitary service, cooperated in by the Haitian gendarmerie, is beginning to yield results of growing accuracy. The first six months of this year showed an increase of 69 per cent of the communes making reports, as compared to 19 per cent last year.

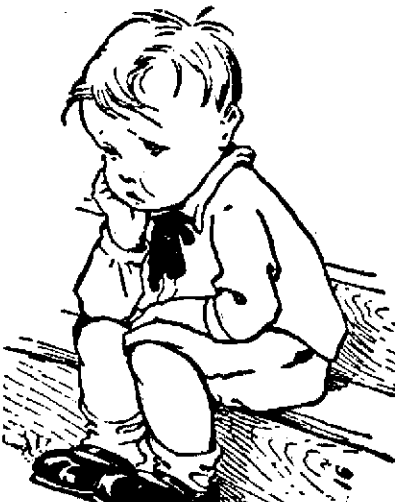

GIRL, UNDER 24, WINS ARCHITECT'S DIPLOMA

San Francisco—Miss Helen E. Findlay is the youngest woman architect in the west; perhaps the youngest, full-fledged, in the United States. "Full-fledged" is used advisedly for the California state examiner is severe, and the fledgling architect who passes it creditably is promoted without any doubt or question, right out of the provisional into the regular professional class.

Miss Findlay holds a first-class certificate from the state board. An architect must be both an artist and an engineer and Miss Findlay has proved her competency as fully Refuse any imitation.

LANDOWNERS IN BRITAIN WARNED TO WATCH STEPS

Land Will Be Taken Away From Them, Government Leader Declares

London—The big landowners of England have been told, in substance, that as a class they have made a bad mess of the land business and that if they did not do better in the future the country would take the land from them and turn them adrift.

The speaker was Lord Bledisloe, himself a big landowner who, during the war, helped the government manage the food supplies of the country. This occasion was an address before the British association.

"The British agricultural landowner today is on his trial," Lord Bledisloe asserted. "Unless he justifies himself as such, the nationalization of the land is inevitable. Public opinion will demand his extinction, and parliament will endorse the demand."

"Many landowners have been for two generations nothing more than rent receivers, and they have possessed neither the knowledge nor the inclination personally to administer their own estates still less to cultivate them on commercial lines for their own and the nation's benefit."

"So far as they have been organized as a class of the community, they have been organized not as producers of wealth, but as defenders of property, and as such their organization has, in a highly democratic country, afforded them but a small and steadily decreasing measure of security. They have thus lost their political power because they had no economic basis. They have, not wholly without justification, been stigmatized as ignorant, reactionary and despotic."

in the one of these branches of her calling as in the other.

The youngest? Well, how old? Not old enough to make it likely that Miss Findlay minds telling, but "not above 24" is what she says.

MISSION WORK TO STOP IF CHURCHES FAIL WITH GIFTS

Congregational People Told By Dr. H. G. Ross They Must Come Up To Scratch

Congregational missionary work must be curtailed unless people come up to scratch in their givings, Dr. Hugh Gordon Ross of Pittsfield, Mass., told representatives of Congregational churches of this locality at a banquet in the First Congregational church Thursday night under auspices of the Mens club.

Dr. Ross is traveling through Wisconsin in company with Dr. John Wilson of this city, superintendent of the eastern district of the state, putting up to the members the need of a more pronounced interest on the part of the church in the world reconstruction that is going on now.

With its appropriation $70,000 short and the need for uplift work increasing, the speaker said the American Missionary association will be obliged to close up some of its schools in the south of the churches do not give liberally. The American board, missionary agency of the denomination also faces curtailment of aged ministers now receiving $250 a year pension cannot afford and some may get less if giving does not increase.

Dr. Ross announced as the national Congregational program for the coming year.

One hundred per cent of the ministers in full and active sympathy with the world missionary program.

Every church doing its utmost to come up to scratch in missionary support.

Every man and woman giving according to ability toward home and world missionary work.

Dr. Ross explained that this rich denomination which spends $17,000,000 a year in its own churches has seemed unable to raise $5,000,000 to relieve the 1922 missionary goal. Only $2,800,000 was obtained. The apportionment means $6 per person a year if everybody gives, or $12 if one out of two persons is consecrated or financially inclined. He gave illustrations of the case with which people spend and said it was asking little to expect church members to give this amount.

"The church which has no great missionary program is wrongly called Christian," he declared. "The Christian who refuses to take his share of the responsibility for the missionary program denies the principles of the church. If we raise the $5,000,000 asked, the whole program can be carried through triumphantly for Jesus. The wealthy people know God demands a share of their wealth. Let those with much give much, and those with small means small amounts."

IRVING ZUEHLKE

ENGLISH KING UNSPORTSMANLIKE, WRITER CHARGES

His Majesty Does Some Shooting With Aid Of Corps Of Gamekeepers

By Associated Press
London—King George has exceeded all his previous records as a shot on the moors. For three and a half days on the Moy Hall moors there fell to his gun 407 brace of grouse. In a single drive his majesty had 102 brace.

The sport enjoyed by the king and his guests at Balmoral, according to the correspondents who send this news to London is of a very different order from that found at Windsor by an earlier monarch. In 1724 when George I the king of that day, went shooting in Windsor park his bag totaled five pheasants and one partridge. Seven years earlier George I, after enjoying a run with the hounds, is reported to have "walked about three miles" with his fowling piece, killing several brace of partridge flying.

"Which proves," writes an old sportsman "how vastly ideas of what constitutes sport differ with different generations of sportsmen." The bag made by George V at Moy Hall proves him to be an excellent wing shot, and nobody can doubt that in all respect, he is a thorough sportsman. And yet there are men living today—and there are not a few American among them, I think, to whom the picture of King George I, walking through Windsor park carrying and loading his own gun and shooting at such birds as came his way, will appeal far more strongly than that of King George V, stationed behind a screen of some sort so that the birds cannot see him, with somebody close at hand to load his gun for him, and a lot of gamekeepers doing their best to make the birds fly toward him so that he can "bag" them with a minimum of exertion. Out west, even now, a days bringing down 102 brace in one drive under such conditions would hardly be regarded as sport at all. Some western sportsmen might even call it slaughter. King George I at least gave the birds no chance of a sporting chance for their lives. So did every sportsman who shot grouse or pheasants in those old days."

SCIENCE TO SAVE YOUNG OYSTERS

By Associated Press
London—So numerous and rapacious are the enemies at large in the sea of the young oyster that the British ministry of agriculture and fisheries estimates that only two out of 1,000,000 young oysters ever reach the knife of the oyster opener. The remainder of the million fall victim to the attacks of their foes.

It is never the oyster's fault if oysters are scarce. The oyster is a generous provider. It makes no fuss over producing a million at a birth. That sort of thing is just all in the day's work with the oyster. But the enemies of the oyster never take a day off. They are the hosts that prey "oyster fry" as it is called by oyster cultivators.

The heavy percentage of loss between birth and maturity moved the ministry to take steps of protection. On the coast of Wales, at Conway, it established an experimental station where the scientist in charge, Dr. Dodgson, is said to have succeeded a number of times in keeping alive and bringing to maturity 100,000 oysters out of every million born. His success was due mainly to the fact that he sterilized the water in which the oyster bred.

"The enemies of the young oyster," Dr. Dodgson explains, "are numerous, but mostly small and by sterilizing the water before putting the oysters in to breed, all enemies of the young are killed off and the young are free to attach themselves to a suitable surface."

"The experiments have been successful for four years in succession and if they prove successful on a larger scale English oyster growers are looking forward to a more abundant supply of the native product."

BRITISH TRY OUT NEW KIND OF PLANE

By Associated Press

London—Great claims are made on behalf of several new airplanes about to be tested by the British Air Ministry. Among them is a new type of machine which, it is predicted, will place an entirely new aspect on the aircraft versus battleship controversy. It is known as the "Curaboo." Fitted with a very powerful engine it will have a range, it is said, of over a thousand miles when fully loaded with bombs and torpedoes.

This is a three-engine machine, and it will be a most effective weapon when operating in large numbers, in repelling not only invading aircraft, but sea craft as well.

When engaged against the latter the new machine, it is claimed, will be able to dart down, discharge its torpedoes at the enemy vessel and climb out of range of anti-aircraft guns in no time. Its ability to climb rapidly will enable it to destroy quickly any Zeppelin that it sights. It is credited with a speed of three miles a minute.

Great secrecy is being observed about the other machine, a four-engine known as the "Elsion," which it is also predicted will do wonders. It has been specially designed for landing on and taking off from the deck of a battleship or aircraft carrier.

Abandoned by its mother when three hours old, this baby lay in a road near New Orleans at night while 200 automobiles passed over it without its suffering a scratch. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Book saw it in the glare of their headlights. They're going to adopt it.

Claims Working Girl Better Off Than Prof's Wife

Berkeley, Calif. — The poor working girl has it "all over" a college professor in the matter of allowances made by employers for subsistence, according to Mrs. Dorothy Hart Bruce, wife of H. L. Bruce, of the faculty of the University of California.

In a letter published in the university Chronicle, a faculty publication Mrs. Bruce takes issue with the budget for household expenses for faculty members recently announced by the board of regents.

Mrs. Bruce said in the letter that professor's wife must "choose between childlessness or the anguish and humiliation of many years of debt and drudgery." If she expects to live on the salary of her instructor husband she said eight other wives of faculty members agreed with her.

Mrs. Bruce said a budget issued recently by a San Francisco teacher of home economics stated a working girl needed $290 a year for clothes to appear well dressed. "That allowance," she declared, "would look big to a professor's wife whose allowance for clothes is tried at the pitiful figure of $70."

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water

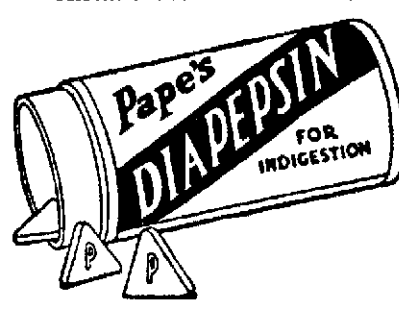

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 urinous of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent thirst water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

CUBAN CITY FATHERS DISLIKE NATIONAL RULE

By Associated Press
Havana, Cuba — "The danger of American intervention in Cuba is consequent to immoralities committed by the executive branch of the government," according to a resolution approved at a meeting of the Havana city council at the height of the recent intervention scare.

The city fathers, some of whom are under indictment, together with the mayor and other municipal officials, on charges of payroll padding, took this measure of showing their disapproval of the national administration, especially in connection with the reported intention of the government to include Havana in a federal district.

BERLIN TAXES ELECTRIC LIGHTS TO HELP POOR

By Associated Press
Berlin—Berlin's bright lights are to be used as a source of revenue to provide money to tide the city's poor over the winter. Assistance for the homes where only candles and oil-lamps are burned will come from the users of electricity and gas.

The prices of these two commodities are to be raised sufficiently to provide a fund of 200,000,000 marks. Eighty millions of this sum will be used for the care of needy children, and the balance for general welfare work. The relief measures include feeding centers, reduction in the price of milk sold to poor families and contributions to infants' homes and asylums.

MODERN METHODS MAY TRIPLE ARMENIA'S CROPS

By Associated Press
Alexandropol, Armenia — Twenty-two American tractors, imported by the Near East Relief commission, have ploughed 2,000 acres and produced 20 bushels of barley per acre, against ten bushels per acre the result of native methods which called for 500 men and 1,500 oxen on the same job.

Professor Hartill, of the New York Institute of Agriculture, directed this experiment in order to prove to the Armenian agriculturists the advantage of American farm machinery. Professor Hartill estimates that the cereal production of Armenia can be increased 300 per cent by the use of modern methods.

MEXICO EXPECTS GOOD BULL FIGHT SEASON

By Associated Press
Mexico City—Bullfighting in Mexico City during the coming season is going to be on a bigger and better scale than ever, according to the impresarios who are to handle the arena events.

The pick of world matadors, including the best in Spain, is to come to Mexico. Rodolfo Gaona, idol of his countrymen here, is the recognized "ace" of the fighters, and with him will be associated Ignacio Sanchez Mejias, Juan Belmonte, Luis Freg, Juan Silvetti, and other stars.

Throughout the past summer there has been much newspaper-agitation against the high salaries paid the fighters, which has resulted in almost exorbitant prices being demanded for tickets. As a result the matadors will receive slightly less this fall and winter, but even so Gaona will collect 12,000 pesos every afternoon he appears in the ring, with the privilege of a benefit performance which is always good for an additional 100,000 pesos. The season opens Oct. 15.

Nurse Saves 2 People From Operation

"I had two patients that the doctors seemed unable to reach with their medicines and in both cases advised the knife. A friend who had tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for Stomach trouble proposed that I recommend it to my patients, which I very glad that I was able to recommend it." It removes the catarrh mucous from the intestinal tract, always the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and testicular ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince. Money refunded. For sale at all druggists.

VOTER'S APATHY RESPONSIBLE FOR RADICALISM HERE

Former Congressman Declares Lawmakers Are Not Given Proper Support

"The greatest issue confronting the American people today is not prohibition, it is not the bonus bill, it is not the tariff but it is this: Shall the American people continue as they have in the past under a constitutional government with a Supreme court to protect the minority or shall it discard these time tried and tested methods and throw itself on passing thods and throw itself on the passing as is advocated by radicals of the present day," declared M. K. Reilly, Fond du Lac, former member of congress, in a stirring address at the regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus Thursday night. Mr. Reilly condemned alike the standpatter who believes everything is right and nothing should be changed and the radical who shouts that everything is wrong and all should be changed.

"If members of congress could feel sure that their every action is being watched by the people back home, if they knew that their efforts for better government would be appreciated and supported and their mistakes would be condemned and punished, there would be less wobbling and subserviency in Washington," Mr. Reilly said. Congressmen know of the apathy of the so-called good citizen and the alertness of class partisans, therefore they guide themselves by the wishes of those who go to the polls and not by the needs of their districts or their country.

MISGOVERNMENT OUR FAULT
It is the fault of the voters themselves, the speaker said. In the last primary election, with the state torn from end to end by political discussion scarcely more than 50 per cent of the voters saw fit to go to the polls. So long as that condition exists, so long as people show so little interest in their government, there can be no escape from radicalism, from red hot prejudices and from legislation based on class and partisan animosity, Mr. Reilly said.

The speaker sharply condemned the effort to make the Supreme court an impotent body.
"Founders of our government, after discussing their problem from every angle, decided that the court must be given power to protect the minorities from prejudices of the majorities and that is what the Supreme court has always done. Now it is urged that congress shall be the supreme judge of what is constitutional in American law. I tell you, gentlemen, that it is possible in this country that a congress as radical as any body ever organized can be elected and then the long enjoyed and hard earned liberties of America will no longer exist."

CORBETT WILL ATTEND SECRETARIES' MEETING

Directors of the chamber of commerce held a brief meeting in the Sherman house Thursday evening. Reports of standing committees were not presented and their reading was deferred until the next meeting. Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college, was made an honorary member of the chamber.

Secretary Hugh G. Corbett was given leave of absence to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, which convenes in Detroit next week. He already has left for Chicago and will go from there to Detroit in time for the gathering.

Don't let your vegetables go to waste. They may all be saved by the drying process. Don't let your fruit decay in the orchard. By evaporation its food value may be so locked up that you can release it to serve your purpose any day in the year.
You need not depend on the sunshine, need not expose materials to the rain. You can make for yourself a simple apparatus that will do the drying in your kitchen.
All the practical knowledge there is on the subject of drying is contained in a 60-page booklet issued by the Department of Agriculture. This is a free Government publication and our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy for any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. Write your name and address clearly.

Picture Of You As Kid Gone From Walls Of H. S.

If the years are bringing gray hair to your temples and you are a bit sensitive about your years, pounds and looks, rest more easily for one blow to your pride has been removed. Remember how they used to get pictures of graduating classes of Appleton high school, mount, frame and hang them all in their glory in the upper hall of the school?
In the course of time, styles changed, especially in hairdressing and neckwear, and still your picture hung on those walls for people to smile indulgently over and to note carefully what year you graduated. (This is the formula for finding the age of any spinsters: Subtract the year she graduated from high school from the present year, add 18 to the resultant number and there you are. No secret at all.)
But the point of this story is that the pictures are gone. They are removed from the walls and placed safely in the vault, where after gathering inches of dust, they will be brought forth only once in a great while as curios. In their places have been put prints of the materepieces. A large number of these have been purchased and put in the class picture frames. The prints themselves are comparatively inexpensive, but the cost of glass and frames has made the price of pictures prohibitive.

MANY WILL HEAR MME. SUNDELIUS SING HERE TONIGHT

Grand Opera Star And Accompanist Reach City For Artist Series Concert

Mme. Marie Sundelius and her accompanist, Robert Yale Smith, arrived in Appleton Thursday evening in readiness for the opening concert of the Community Artist and Lecture series to be given at 8:15 Friday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Sale of seats up to noon indicated that the Metropolitan opera star will have an audience that will comfortably fill the chapel. There was more or less scurrying about to obtain season tickets before the best locations were taken, and many reservations also were coming in under the single admission plan. There are good seats still to be had, however.
Mme. Sundelius has been in such great demand in the larger cities that few people in places the size of Appleton have heard her. It is the prediction of those who know of her ability that she will captivate her audience and establish a place in the hearts of music lovers that will bring her capacity houses here in the future.

RAIL CENTERS FLOODED WITH BIG CABBAGE CROP

Cabbages, cabbages, cabbages were hauled to the city Thursday. Indeed, it is likely there never was such an amount marketed on any day before. Steady streams of wagons filled with cabbage passed over the country roads Thursday and Friday leading to the markets. From morning until 2 o'clock no less than 200 tons was weighed on one scale alone. The amount represented 12 carloads. The large quantity of cabbage is still keeping the price down to $3 a ton for early cabbage and $5 for late cabbage.

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS SEDAN

With this car, Dodge Brothers have literally created a new type of sedan.

They have combined open car ruggedness with closed car protection and smartness.

They have demonstrated, once for all, that a sedan can be as practical and almost as inexpensive as an open touring car.

The body is built of hand-welded steel because steel is sturdy, and will take a permanent, oven-baked finish, eliminating forever the cost of repainting.

The seats are upholstered in attractive, genuine Spanish blue leather, because leather will wash and wear.

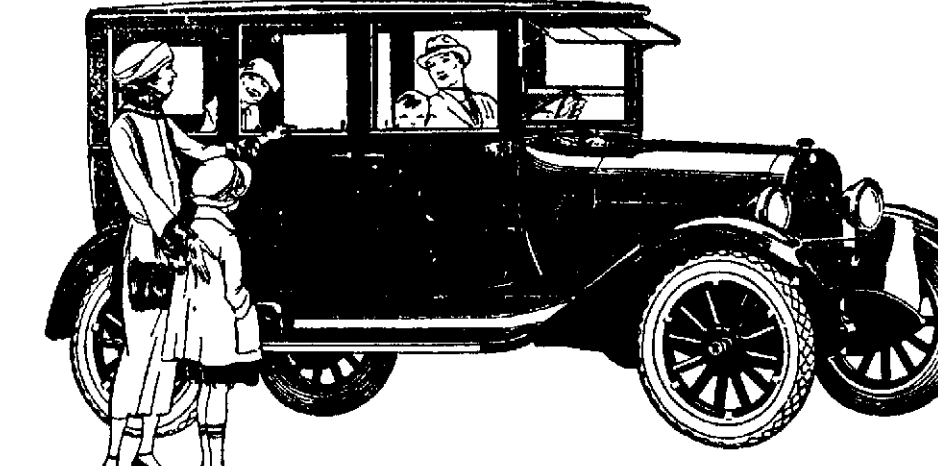

To further enlarge the car's usefulness, the rear seat, back and side cushions, seat frame and foot rest are quickly removable, giving sixty-four cubic feet of flat loading space in the rear compartment. The manifold uses made possible by this unique feature are readily imagined.

The top and rear quarters are of non-rumble, fabric construction, conforming with the present attractive vogue. From cord tires to curtain cords, the fittings, inside and out, are distinctive and complete.

In fact, every detail of the car emphasizes its striking adaptability to business as well as social use.

The Tuberculin Test Protects the Dairy Cow — Pasteurization the Consumer

PASTEURIZATION IS SAFETY FIRST

By PROF. WARD GILTNER, of Michigan Agricultural College

The tuberculin test cannot take the place of pasteurization. It seems that the mind of man is so constituted that he is always ready and usually eager to avoid whatever he considers a burden or he is too willing to accept substitutes. "This will do," or "That is just as good," are rocks on which many a ship has met disaster. Now there is an old saying that, "There is more than one way to skin a cat," and this is probably true but there is probably a best way even to so skin a cat.

It seems quite clear to those who have made a careful study of the matter that there is only one way to render market milk safe—free from living, disease-producing germs—all the time and as respects all the disease-producing germs that are apt to be found in milk, not just one of the disease producers and just maybe or maybe not. Pasteurization is that way.

The tuberculin test is a wonderful diagnostic test and should be regularly applied to all dairy cattle in order that the great dairy industry may not be constantly endangered by sources of infection that keep the destructive fire of tuberculosis burning in the herds of cattle. It is only by the tuberculin tests that we can hope to locate all the affected cattle and thus remove them from contact with the healthy. Ridding our dairy cattle of tuberculosis should ultimately tend to keep down the price of milk and its products just as would the elimination of any other great source of loss to the industry. Elimination of cattle tuberculosis would also mean the saving of the lives of some children from the morbid or even fatal effects of bovine tuberculosis as transmitted by raw milk, but only a small percentage of human tuberculosis is due to bacteria of bovine origin and these cases are constantly decreasing in number on account of the effectiveness and greatly increased application of pasteurization of milk.

It is readily apparent to one of only limited knowledge of either the scientific details or the practical aspects of the case that, while tuberculin testing is a wise and beneficial measure always to be encouraged, it is in no sense the solution or even a solution of the safe milk problem. The fight against bovine tuberculosis is primarily an animal husbandry problem, secondarily, a public health problem. Assuming that tuberculin testing means the actual suppression of cattle tuberculosis and its consequent transmission to man by milk, even then it is in no sense a substitute for or the equivalent of pasteurization. Pasteurization, on the other hand, may be depended upon to insure the consumer against not only living bovine tuberculosis germs but each and all other disease germs of either bovine or human origin that are apt to be carried by milk.

One could with equal force advocate that the rigid keeping of the tenth commandment was as good religion or moral practise as the keeping of all ten, as to advocate that tuberculin testing of cattle is the equivalent of or accomplishes the same purpose as does pasteurization.

Finally let us all learn to think straight so that we may not mistake a part for the whole or unlike things for each other, but so that we may recognize the value, the purpose and the relative merits of different things and agencies to the end that we may know what to choose and what to eschew, what is important or vital and why it is important or vital. We hear rumblings that bode ill for the milk consumer. There are those that would, through ignorance or for hope of private gain, break down the great good that has been built up on the principle of the scientific use of heat in the safe-guarding of our market milk supply. Pasteurization is a safe, sane and economical method of treating milk so as to render it free from practically all dangers. There is no other way known whereby milk may be produced either raw or treated with an equal guarantee of safety. Efforts to produce a raw milk equally safe are futile and economically prohibitive; efforts to treat milk in some way other than by the scientific application of heat in pasteurization have signally failed to accomplish the desired results.

Milk distributors may be guilty of some sins of omission or commission—they are human like milk consumers—but their achievements in making practical a method of safeguarding the milk supply of the babies and children must be recognized by the general public and their hands upheld in continuing their efforts. Pasteurization, because of its efficiency and economy, means as much to the people as the inalienable rights listed in the Declaration of Independence.

This article viz: The Tuberculin Test Protects the Dairy Cow—Pasteurization the Consumer, written by such unquestionable authority as Prof. Ward Giltner of Michigan Agricultural College should prove to any doubtful mind that Tuberculin Tested Milk is far from being Pure and Safe. Milk must be subjected to other tests, (even though it be drawn from Tuberculin Tested Cows) before it can be called Pure and Safe. One of these tests is the Contamo-Test, for testing impurity in Milk; the other is the heating of milk (Pasteurization) to destroy all, not only the Tubercular germs but all Pathogenic or disease-producing germs, from septic sore-throat kind, to the Typhoid Diptheria kinds, before it can be styled as Safe Milk. Our milk is subjected to the Contamo-Test and all milk which will react, contains too much Bacteria and is rejected. All that passes the test is scientifically pasteurized in glass-lined Pasteurizers to render perfectly Pure and Safe.

Appropriate Scenery

It takes a lot of "make-believe" for most of us to appreciate even the good play that uses no scenery. It doesn't seem natural.

Smiles are the scenic background that relieves the drama of life of many of its awkward situations, to say nothing of its big and little tragedies. They may even be powerful enough to save the commonplace play.

So it is in our business. Every day we are selling meat, and our smiles of satisfaction are derived from the fact that we sell nothing but the best grades of meat, and in so doing making every customer a satisfied customer.

The FLAMING JEWEL

by ROBERT W CHAMBERS
©1922 GEORGE H DORAN COMPANY

CHAPTER II
Slim and straight as a young boy in his gray shirt and breeches. Eve continued on lightly through the woods, her rifle over her shoulder, her eyes of gentian-blue always alert.

The morning turned warm; she pulled off her felt hat, shook out her clipped curls, stripped open the shirt at her snowy throat where sweat glistened like melted frost.

The forest was lovely in the morning sunlight—lovely and still—save for the blue-jays for the summer birds had gone and only birds destined to a long Northern winter now remained.

Eve's tread was light on the moist trail; her quick eyes missed nothing—not the faint imprint of deer, fresh made, nor the sprawling insignia of rambling raccoons—nor the big barred owl huddled on a pine limb overhead, nor when the swift gravely reaches of the brook caught sunlight, did she miss the swirl and furrowing and milling of painted trout on the spawning beds.

In her cartridge-pouch she carried the flat, sealed packet which Clinch had trusted to her. The sack swayed gently as she strode on, slapping her left hip at every step, and always her subconscious mind remained on guard and aware of it, and now and then she dropped her hand to feel of the pouch and strap.

From Star Peak's left flank an icy stream clatters down to the level floor of the woods, here; and it was here that Eve had meant to quench her thirst with a mouthful of sweet water.

But as she approached the tiny ford, warily, she saw a saddled horse tied to a sapling and a man seated on a mossy log.

The trappings of horse, the gray-green uniform of the man, left no room for speculation; a trooper of the State Constabulary was seated there.

His cap was off, his head rested on his palm. Elbow on knee, he sat there gazing at the water—watching the slim fish perhaps, darting up stream toward their bridal-beds hidden far away at the headwaters.

A detour was imperative. The girl, from the shelter of a pine, looked out cautiously; the man had merely checked her now the recognition of his uniform startled her heart out of its tranquil rhythm and set the blood burning in her cheeks.

There was a memory of such a man seared into the girl's very soul—a man whose head and shoulders resembled this man's—who had the same bright hair, the same slim and powerful body—and who moved, too, as this young man moved.

The girl knew him. Her heart stood still, then heart and blood ran riot and she felt her knees tremble—felt weak as she rested against the pine's huge trunk and covered her face with unsteady fingers.

Until the moment, Eve had never dreamed what the memory of this man really meant to her—never dreamed that she had capacity for emotion so utterly overwhelming.

Even now confusion, shame, fear was to get away—away and still her heart's wild beating—control the strange tremor that possessed her. She drew her hand from her eyes and looked upon the man she had attempted to kill—upon the young man who had wrested her off her feet and handcuffed her—and who had bathed her bleeding mouth with spaghnum—and who had kissed her hands—

She was trembling so that she became frightened. The racket of the brook in his ears safeguarded her in a measure. She bent over nearly double, her rifle at a trail, and cautiously began the detour.

When at length the wide circle through the woods had been safely accomplished and Eve was moving out through the thickening ranks of tamarack, her heart, which seemed to suffocate her, quieted; and she leaned against a shoulder of rock, strangely tired.

After a while she drew from her pocket his handkerchief, and looked at it. The square of cambric bore his initials, J. S. Blood from her lip remained on it. She had not washed out the spots.

She put it to her lips again, mechanically. A faint odor of tobacco still clung to it.

By every law of loyalty, pride, self respect, she should have held this man her enemy. Instead, she held his handkerchief against her lips—crushed it there suddenly, closing her eyes while the color surged and surged through her skin from throat to hair.

Then, wearily she lifted her head and looked out into the gray and empty vista of her life, where the dreary years seemed to stretch like milestones away, away into an endless waste.

She put the handkerchief into her pocket, shouldered her rifle, moved on without looking about her—a mistake which only the emotion of the moment could account for in a girl so habituated to caution—for she had gone only a few rods before a man's strident voice halted her:

"Halte la! Crosse en air!"

"Drop that rifle," came another voice from behind her. "You're armed. Throw your gun on the ground!"

She stood as though paralyzed. To the right and left she heard people tramping through the thicket toward her.

"Down with that gun, damn you!" repeated the voice, breathless from running. All around her men came floundering and crashing toward her through the undergrowth. She could see some of them.

As she stooped to place her rifle on the dead leaves, she drew the flat packet from her cartridge sack at the same time and slid it deftly under a rotting log. Then, calm but very pale, she stood upright to face events.

The first man wore a red and yellow bandanna handkerchief over the lower half of his face, pulled tightly across a bony nose. He held a long pistol nearly parallel to his own body; and when he came up to where she was standing he poked the muzzle into her stomach.

She did not flinch; he said nothing; she looked intently into the two ratty eyes fastened on her over the edge of his bandanna.

Five other men were surrounding her, but they all wore white masks of vizard shape, revealing chin and mouth.

They were different otherwise, also, wearing various sorts and patterns of sport clothes, brand new, and giving them an odd, foreign appearance.

What troubled her most was the silence; she maintained. The man wearing the bandanna was the only one who seemed at all a familiar figure—merely, perhaps, because he was American in build, clothing, and movement.

He took her by the shoulder, turned her around and gave her a shove forward. She staggered a step or two; he gave her another shove to keep on going.

Presently she found herself in a steep, wet, overgrown rising upward through a gully. She knew that run—she led up Star Peak.

Behind her as she climbed she heard the shuffling, panting tread of men; her wind was better than theirs, she climbed lithely upward, setting a pace which finally resulted in a violent jerk backward—a savage, wordless admonition to go more slowly.

As she climbed she wondered whether she should have fired an alarm shot on the chance of the State Trooper's Stormont, hearing it.

But she had thought only of the packet at the moment of purpose. And now she wondered whether, when freed, she could ever again find that rotting log.

Up, up, always up along the wet gully, deep with silt and frost-splintered rock, she toiled, the heavy gasping of men behind her. Twelfth she was jerked to a halt while her escort rested.

Once, without turning, she said uncreakily: "Who are you? What have I done to you?"

There was no reply.

"What are you going to do to me?" she began again, and was shaken by the shoulder until silent.

At last the vast arch of the eastern sky sprang out ahead, where stunted spruces stood against the sunshine and the intense heat of mid-day fell upon a bare tableland of rock and moss and fern.

As she came out upon the level, the man and her took both her arms and pulled them back and somebody bandaged her eyes. Then a hand closed on her left arm and, so guided, she stumbled and crept forward across the rocks for a few moments until her guide halted her and forced her into a sitting position on a smooth, flat boulder.

She heard the crunching of heavy feet around her, whispering made hoarse by breath exhausted, movement across rock and scrub, retreating steps.

For an interminable time she sat there alone in the hot sun, drenched to the skin in sweat, listening, thinking, striving to find a reason for this lawless outrage.

After a long while she heard some body coming across the rocks, stifled as she listened with some vague presentiment of evil.

CHAPTER III
Somebody had halted beside Eve. After a pause she was aware of nimble fingers busy with the bandage over her eyes.

At first, when freed, the light blinded her. By degrees she was able to distinguish the rocky crest of Star Peak, with the tops of tall trees appearing level with the rocks from depths below.

Then she turned slowly, and looked at the man who had seated himself beside her.

He wore a white mask over a delicate, smoothly shaven face.

As she met his brilliant eyes behind the mask, his delicate, thin lips grew tense in what seemed to be a smile—or a soundless sort of laugh.

"Veree happy," he said, "to make the acquaintance. Pardon my unceremonious, miss but once necessities compels. Are you, perhaps, a little rested?"

"Yes."

"Ah! Then, if you permit, we proceed with affairs of moment. You will be sufficiently kind to write down what I say. Yes?"

He placed paper and pencil in Eve's hand. Without demurring or hesitation she made ready to write, her mind groping wildly for the reason of it all.

"Write," he said, with his silent laugh, which was more like the soundless snarl of a lynx unafraid:

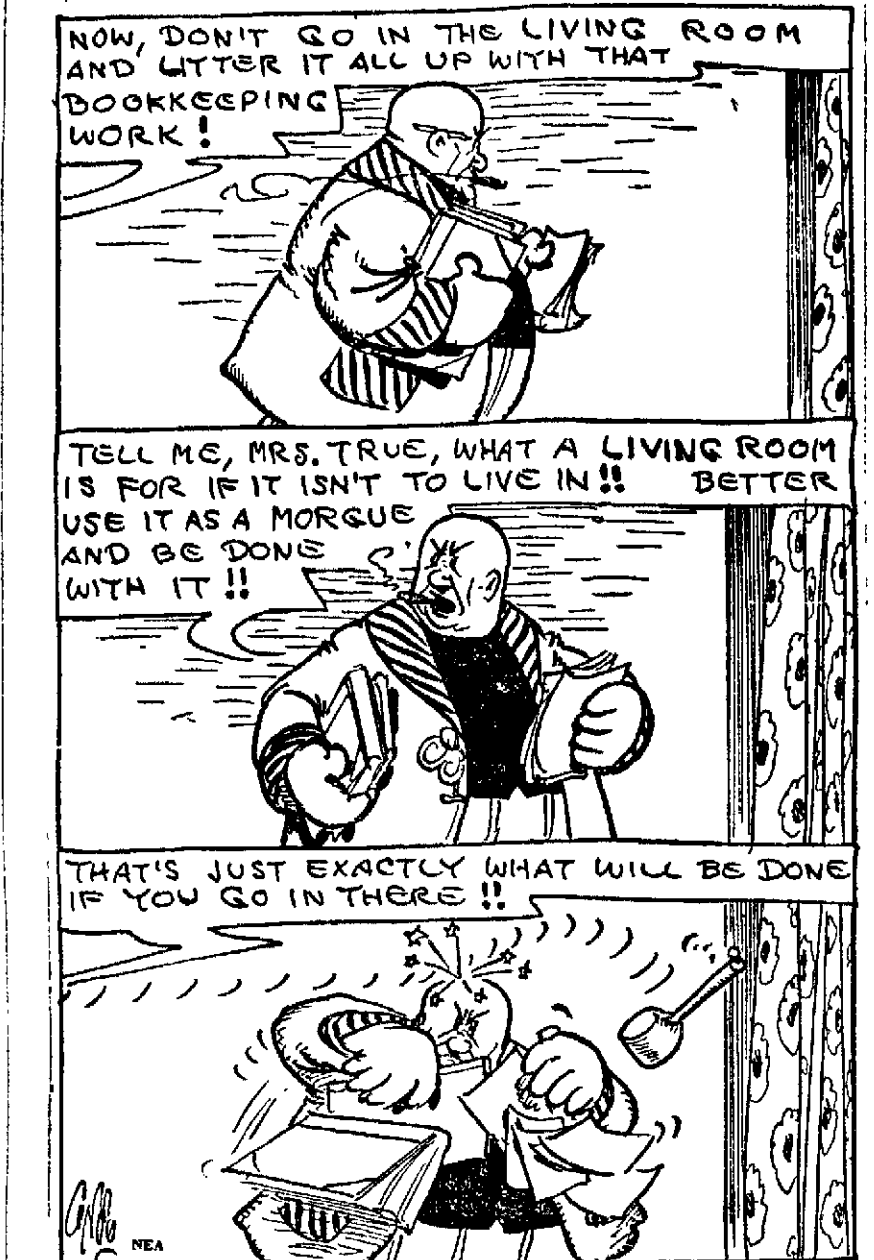

"To Mike Clinch, my father, from his child, Eve. I am hostage, held by Jose Quintana. Pay what you owe him and I go free."

"For each day delay he sends to you one finger which will be severed from my right hand—"

WOMAN CUTS RED TAPE; FREES CITY FROM GANGSTERS

St. Paul Grand Jury, With Woman Leader, Sets New Record For Speed

St. Paul Minn.—The wheels of justice have been sped up in an amazing degree here and St. Paul has been made overnight into an unhealthy place for criminals—because a woman accepted a challenge.

Constance Curry, superintendent of a ward neighborhood house, was drawn for grand jury service.

"I'm glad of it," she said. "I believe speedy justice and less red tape will crush the crime wave."

The grand jury organized. Miss Curry was made foreman. She knew nothing about grand jury methods. But she considered she had been challenged, so she used her own ideas.

Cases of 17 gangsters were before the jury. Six were held on charges of storming a jail in the heart of the city, and freeing a member of their gang. Delay in indictment made this possible, Miss Curry argued.

Miss Curry became grand jury head at 10 a. m. Six hours later the grand jury had been organized, heard 50 witnesses and returned 67 indictments against the gangsters on several counts.

The action came so quickly that three confessed and within 12 hours were sentenced to prison for robbery. The district attorney caught the spirit, arraigned the remainder that afternoon, and is rushing through their trials.

Meantime St. Paul is unusually free from crime, following several months of repeated gang outrages.

TESTED RECIPE

MACKEREL OR BLUEFISH BAKED WITH TOMATOES

By Bertha E. Shapleigh

All dark fish, as mackerel, herring, bluefish or carp, are rich in fat, and while they are always delicious when well boiled the cooking may be varied. The following is a good recipe:

2 large mackerel or 1 bluefish
6 strips bacon or 3 tablespoons butter

4 tomatoes peeled and cut in pieces
1 onion thinly sliced

1 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon paprika or a little pepper
3 tablespoons chopped parsley

In a baking pan, preferably granite, not tin, place three strips bacon and one-half the onion. The fish may be split or left whole. After thoroughly cleaning place it on the bacon.

Over it sprinkle salt, paprika, the remaining slices of onion and bacon, the tomatoes and water.

Place in a moderately hot oven and cook 35 minutes. Remove to a platter, sprinkle the parsley over, and serve the gravy and vegetables around the fish.

Household Hints

MONKEY FRINGE

A short sports coat of ermine is made distinctive by the addition of a fringe of monkey fur about the lower edge. The coat ends at the hip line.

PARIS UMBRELLA

A Paris umbrella is of navy blue taffeta mounted on a red frame, and with a very large red handle.

NEW SLEEVE

A new type of sleeve comes down to the elbow in a close, fitted line, then finishes in straps of braid or ribbon, each piece left loose but gathered together in a close band at the wrist.

IF YOU ARE WELL BREED

You do not try to impress people with your sophistication or your wide acquaintance by constantly mentioning celebrities and referring to them by their first names or nicknames.

Such ostentation always indicates the social climber rather than the socially established person. Really well-bred persons keep the personal element out of general conversations.

GERMANY TO LAVISH MARKS ON DOG POUND

By Associated Press
Berlin — Stray dachshunds and other wail canines of the German capital are gleefully wagging their tails at the prospect of a new 2,500,000 mark pound which the city has decided to erect as their special "pension de luxe."

Not only are the innocent victims of the official dog-catcher to "have their day" but the latter himself and his staff are to be provided with a new residence costing 2,650,000 marks. In addition the city has set aside a contingent fund of 750,000 marks. Neukölln will be the site of the palatial new pound.

MAKE OLD FROCKS NEW

One way to refurbish one of last season's frocks is to add one of the new wide collars now so fashionable.

Those of net or georgette crepe, trimmed with hemstitching and a lace edging, may be made very inexpensively at home and they give the same effect of the expensive ones you buy in the shops.

It seems only fair to give this word of warning—if you have very broad shoulders such a collar will emphasize the fact. Only the young and slender should attempt this extreme style.

Modern Housewives As Businesslike As Men, Says Woman Who Knows

Secretary Of Washington Trust Company Finds Women Are Operating Their Households On Efficiency Basis

By MARIAN HALE

Housewives today are running their homes just as efficiently as men are running their businesses," says Mary Jane Winfree.

Her position as secretary of the Continental Trust Company of Washington, D. C., where she teaches hundreds of women to keep their accounts and balance their check books, gives her a good vantage point from which to form her judgment.

"And all this talk about women being unbusinesslike and their over-checking and under-saving and making themselves a nuisance generally for cashiers is all without foundation," she continued. "Women learn simple banking principles in an amazingly short time."

"Today women pay their grocers, butchers and tradespeople by check. They run their homes on a budget plan, and balance their accounts down to the last five cents if it takes five hours."

WOMEN'S ACCOUNTS HARDER.
"Women's accounts are really much harder to manage than men's too, because they involve small amounts and small checks while men work in larger figures."

"Labor-saving devices for the home have done more than anything else to make women efficient, because they have given them time to catch up. While the electric washer is getting the dirt out of Johnny's rompers his mother has time to do her bookkeeping and find out where the household money is going and why."

Miss Winfree's unique position in the banking world, shared by not half a dozen others of her sex, is the result of her business policy of asking no favors, but always doing some little service that will put others under obligation to her.

CAN TRANSLATE FINANCE.
She knows stocks and bonds and investments sometimes have to be translated into plain English for those who do not speak the language of finance.

Her willingness to act as interpreter makes most of the women who have accounts at the bank prefer to do their business with "Miss Mary." And many a wise-looking man after a consultation with a wise-looking banker, comes to her afterwards to say:

"Now what did he really mean by it all?"
The old prejudice against promoting women to executive positions in banks is rapidly evaporating, she says.

"The only reason for it is because men can't help regarding women employees as merely temporary—bridging the time between school and matrimony."

"I started as a stenographer 14

MARRIAGE A LA MODE
Mourning customs in China are very definitely established. A woman mourns three years for her husband.

During the first year she wears coarse cotton, during the second a somewhat finer grade, and the third year she may wear silk. The color of mourning is white, which is supposed to indicate pure sorrow. A widower's term of mourning is only one year.

Cinderella Sally

Chapter 11 — Goodbye to Home

By Zoo Beckley

Martin laughed uneasily.

"That's the spirit! Maybe some day I'll come to New York and look you up, Sally. Will you remember me? Or will you be too stuck up to notice old home town folks?"

Indeed Sally seemed already to be in New York—awed, stimulated, dazzled, eager, frightened, thrilled.

"What did you—? Why, Alan Martin, you know I'll never forget you—the friend who gave me my chance!"

There was a hint of tears in Sally's thanks that touched something in the heart of Lucy Bennet, reporter.

"Listen, children," she said in a warm tone that brought them both comfort. "Sally is in for a wonderful adventure. With most girls I'd say there was a big risk of being a loser. They're the sort that win out in careers, but lose everything else—everything that makes others real human beings, get me? I hope—and I believe—Sally is going to stay always the good fellow she is now. And if she does, she'll win!"

"And what," said Martin after a pause, "about—?" He was going to say "me," but hastily substituted "clothes." "She can't go to the Manhattan Frolics man—what's his name Golden?—in those togs, can she?"

"Oh, that'll be taken care of," said Miss Bennet.

That night was sleepless for Sally. The next day she found herself the celebrity of Branchville. When at last she entered the express for Chicago, with Alan Martin's little bouquet pressed to her heart, the cheers of scores of townsfolk ringing in her ears, and New York looming somewhere ahead like an unknown monster, Sally was a badly frightened girl. Surely something calamitous must follow such fantastic, unreal-seeming good luck.

"Cross 'em when you get to 'em!" she kept murmuring to herself, and tried to steady her shaky nerves.

The nervousness of everything helped banish the undefined ogres of imagination. The berths in the sleeper were made up for the night. Sally wondered as she and Miss Bennet pushed through the narrow aisle of green curtains.

"Won't it be funny, sitting in these little cubbyholes all day tomorrow?" she whispered to the newspaper woman.

Miss Bennet stared, not understanding. Then, from the timidity in Sally's face she suddenly saw the truth; the girl had never seen a Pullman.

"Bless your heart, kid, they turn them into seats in the morning, all comfy-like. We'll sit and watch the world go by all day tomorrow."

But after she had gone to bed that night, Miss Bennet felt more soberly about Sally's inexperience. To the Manhattan Frolics came the most sophisticated and cleverest woman hunters in the world. What would they do to Sally?

Adventures Of The Twins

Is Chipmunk III?

One day Mr. Tingaling, the fairy man landlord, went to call on Snuffles, the fairyman doctor.

Nancy and Nick had helped Mr. Tingaling to collect rents and Mr. Tingaling, knowing the Twins were helping Dr. Snuffles, decided to go and see all three of them.

After they'd talked about the weather, and everything like that, Mr. Tingaling took his rent list out of his pocket and tapped it.

"I've come on a little business," said he.

"Isn't my rent paid?" asked Dr. Snuffles anxiously. "I thought I sent you a check."

"Oh, yes, yes! Yes, indeed!" said Mr. Tingaling. "It's about another matter. In plain words, I came to find out about Chirk Chipmunk's health."

"Chirk Chipmunk? Why, what's wrong with him?" asked Nancy in surprise. "I saw him this very morning running a race with Scramble Squirrel, and Chirk won."

"M. h'm! So that's it, is it?" asked Tingaling wisely. "I thought the racial was fooling me and now I know it."

"He said that his house of stones was so damp he was sick all the time with rheumatism and pneumonia and he couldn't pay me any more rent until either the house was dryer or he was spryer."

"I just thought I'd ask. That Chirk is a cute one and you've got to get up early in the morning to get ahead of him."

"What do you s'pose I can do, doc?"

tor? The Fairy Queen expects me to collect her rents and I'll have to get it some way."

"I tell you what I'll do," said Dr. Snuffles. "I'll go to see Chirk at once, then I can let you know if Chirk is really and truly sick."

LAWRENCE AND BELOIT CLASH ON GRIDIRON SATURDAY

Little Five Honors At Stake; Fans Accompany Blue And White Squad

Chances Are Even In Opinion Of Dopesters—McChesney Gives Men Finishing Touches In Light Workout

WITH the knowledge that they are to face their strongest opponents of the season and with Little Five conference laurels at stake, 25 determined footballers and coaches McChesney and Buck left Friday morning for Beloit where the Blue and White is to do battle with the Fairland eleven Saturday afternoon.

Five automobile leads carrying the players left Appleton at 8:30. This "fleet" was to be followed by a greater "armada" in the afternoon and evening consisting of students and alumni who will be on hand to bolster the Lawrence invasion. In addition to the Lawrence rosters a large number of Beloit alumni residing in this city were scheduled to journey to State line city. The football tilt will be the chief homecoming attraction for the Beloit school Saturday.

FACE HARD BATTLE
Despite the fact that Lawrence trampled over Beloit last year in this city to the tune of 35 to 0, few observers believe that Lawrence will have as easy a victory this year. Beloit vanquished Northwestern of Watertown last Saturday by such an overwhelming score that the very thought of it gives many a Lawrentian a chilly feeling. The principal worry of the Appletonians seems to be Beloit's quarterback, McAliffe. The player has already been announced by some as a foremost candidate to the All-American team.

However, Lawrence will meet Beloit quite prepared for either individual menace or the entire team. Practice Wednesday night against the scrub team using Beloit's plays proved that the regulars were able to smash up everything but the aerial attacks. Lawrence went through the entire week on a new set of plays which will be used for the first time Saturday should the occasion demand them.

EVEN BREAK
With the exception of Lawrence students most critics think that the teams have an even break. Few bets are being placed in the city but it is understood that many of the students as well as the outsiders will take some coin with them to Beloit where they expect to find plenty of takers.

Some mystery shrouds the lineup to be used by Head Coach H. D. McChesney Saturday. While he issued a "probable" lineup it is understood that he expects to make some "surprising" changes a minute before the whistle blows for the kickoff.

This is how most dopesters have both teams for the opening quarter:

LAWRENCE	BELOIT
"Bill" Smith, c.	Watson, c.
Tracy, l. g.	Tracy, l. g.
Hunting, r. e.	Anderson, r. e.
Doering, r. e.	Wheeler, r. e.
Kotal, q.	McAliffe, q.
Grignon or Stoll, f. b.	Nelson, f. b.
Basing, l. b.	Radebaugh, l. b.
Grover, r. b.	Addie, r. b.

GOOD SUBSTITUTES
One of the most favorable factors for Lawrence is the host of excellent substitute material the squad has. In fact it is almost a difficult thing for the coaches at times to decide just what man to use.

Stoll particularly is an all important asset on the squad. He can be used in nearly any position on the team. The balance of the squad which made the journey to Beloit is composed of the following: Remington center, Olson, guard, Kiehl, Gander, Packard, ends, Jacobson, quarterback, Berry, Currie, fullbacks, Essing, Ruhlman, Gean, Grover and Kubit, halves.

The finishing work Thursday evening at Lawrence field seemed light compared to what the squad is scheduled to meet. However a general optimism prevailed. A chalk talk in the gymnasium at 7:30 concluded all preparations. Thursday nights work consisted mostly of signal practice and some kickoff plays.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Football is getting more popular with each year. Reports from nearly all grid centers indicate bigger demands, for seats than there are printed ducats.

All Wisconsin has its eyes centered on Madison where the Badger eleven will engage with the Hoosier squad for the first time in something like ten years. Wisconsin is making a strong bid for the Big Ten title and the result Saturday will give some idea of the future.

BIG TEN TEAMS PLAY IMPORTANT GAMES SATURDAY

Beef Is Added To Northwestern For Tilt With Minnesota

By Associated Press
Chicago—The football team which Northwestern will send out to meet the invading Gophers of Minnesota Saturday will carry more beef but less experience than the lineup used against Chicago last Saturday, according to indications in the Purple camp.

Purdue will meet the Maroons on Staggfield without its leader, Captain Murphy.

Eversman and Stewart also will probably be out of the game. Ohio state meeting Michigan at Columbus in one of the most important Big Ten games of the season, suffered a loss on the eve of battle when it was announced that Young, left tackle, for the Buckeyes, would be on the side lines because of scholastic difficulties.

The appearance of Iowa Big Ten champions of 1921 and conquerors of Yale last Saturday, was an added incentive to old grads of Illinois to attend the annual homecoming festivities at Illinois Saturday.

Saturday's games, which mark the full start of the Big Ten football season are nevertheless regarded as deciding factors in the championship prospects of some schools, because of schedule arrangements which do not call for games between some of the most formidable contenders.

ROD AND REEL By Dixie Carroll

REEL POSITION ADDS TO CAST
In using the bait casting reel it should always be placed on the top of the rod with the handle to the right, and should be kept in this position when casting and playing the fish.

With one exception, and that is as the stroke of the cast is made and the line runs out through the guides. At the time the rod should be held so that the reel stands on its end, that is, the side or end plates should be parallel with the water when the cast is finished, the rod turned in towards the caster in order to bring the reel to this position. In this way the spindle or spool ends rest in the bearings and the reel spool does not correctly on the end pinions and not on the side of the spool which would be the case if the cast were made with the reel spool perfectly parallel with the water. It is surprising the additional casting power one will secure with the reel in the correct position and at the same time there is far less friction when the cast is made this way.

The best bait casting reels are of the long low spool design, and you can get a good one around six or eight dollars. Of course, if you want to hit the high spots and get a tool built like a watch, you can go as high as the roof and get a reel that will last throughout your fishing days and be an heirloom to hand down to your descendants. The main thing with the bait casting reel is to give it a show for its life, and not take it apart every now and then to see what makes it run so smoothly.

The sliding action of click reel used in fishing is merely a storage place for line, as the line is not cast from the reel as in bait casting. The line is crasped by the left hand between the reel and the first guide, and any lengthening or shortening of the line is done with this hand. As the slack accumulates, the rod is shifted to the left hand and the slack wound on the reel with the right hand. The reel is not used in other casting or landing the fish.

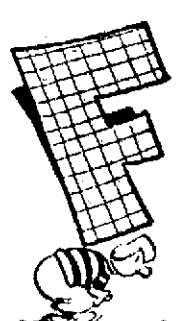

(Copyright, 1922, Stewart Kidd Co.)

Oshkosh last Saturday makes them a dangerous foe for any scholastic eleven.

Jimmy Smith, the Milwaukee pin star, is finding the going pretty rough in Chicago where he is meeting all comers in a special series of games on the Randolph slides. The Milwaukeean appears to be railed by a jinx because he generally piles up more pins than his opponent but still loses the majority of games. Smith, however, still has a firm hold on the bowling fans and wherever he rolls, they generally pack 'em in at the gate.

Speaking of "bear" stories, Coach Tommy Mills of Beloit is spreading it on thick with the Lawrence game only a day away. According to the tales from Fairyland, nearly half the team is on the hospital list and the outlook for a win not very bright. How quick the invalids will come to life when the whistle blows.

Flashy West Green Bay Gridders Oppose High School Footballers Saturday

Coach Denney sent his regulars through scrimmages Thursday night with the second team using Green Bay plays. The Blue and Orange gridders did nicely and should the practice be a forecast of the coming tilt, the high school is scheduled to win. Appleton is expected to have it over West Green Bay in weight but the visitors, according to reports from the Bay, promise to make up with "fighting spirit."

Appleton hasn't lost a game this year and it is the aim of the school to keep up this reputation. Coach Denney is nursing his men with considerable care and he hopes that they get over the tilt Saturday without any injuries for the game next week with Marinette.

Both teams are expected to start off with the following lineups:

APPLETON	WEST HIGH
Bonini, c.	Jones, c.
Fischer, r. g.	Timmers, r. g.

Business And Professional Men And Holy Name Society Organize—Blue Moons Want Game With Best In Valley

Special to Post-Crescent
Kimberly—Bowlers here anticipate an active season. Two leagues will vie for honors and the recently planned and resurfaced Kimberly alleys make possible for display of real skill.

Wednesday the Kimberly business and professional men organized their league, which is composed of four teams. These will roll every Tuesday and Wednesday night for 20 consecutive weeks.

Manager John Verbeten has put up some handsome prizes to be given to the team which will finish at the top and the man who makes highest average and to the player who makes the highest individual score.

The Holy Name society also organized for the season including the best ballers of the village. This league is composed of four teams.

The highest score rolled to date was by F. Behling. He knocked over 249 maps.

The Kimberly Blue Moons which worked up an enviable record last season will again be together this year and would like to get a game with the best teams in the valley.

Play Checkers Over Telephone Wirs Saturday

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—A series of three games of checkers to be played over telephone wires between B. Lyle Fox, Morse operator of Milwaukee and Edward Libby of the ticket department Western Union, Minneapolis, will take place next Saturday.

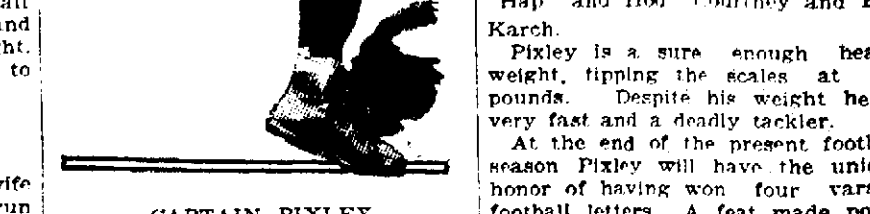

Each move will be received by wire as made and placed on a blackboard. The Milwaukee assembly, Western Union employees, was challenged by the Minneapolis assembly several weeks ago.

Chicago—President Tierney announced negotiations for the sale of the Sioux City, Ia., franchise to Lincoln, Neb., were under way.

New York—Tex Richard announced that the proposed fight between Battling Siki and Kid Norfolk Nov. 30 was called off.

St. Paul—Mike Kelly, manager of the pennant winning St. Paul club of the American association, said he was considering an offer to manage the Washington American.

Ohio Bred Captain

boy will lead the Buckeyes into action on that day.

The Ohio State eleven this year is captained by L. A. "Butch" Pixley, a native of Columbus.

Pixley is a product of Columbus East high school which produced such other famous Ohio State stars of recent years as "Chick" Harley, "Hap" and "Red" Courtney and Bob Karch.

Pixley is a sure enough heavy weight, tipping the scales at 249 pounds. Despite his weight he is very fast and a deadly tackler.

At the end of the present football season Pixley will have the unique honor of having won four varsity football letters. A feat made possible in these days of three-year limitation rules by the fact that Pixley won a letter as a freshman in 1918 when conference rules were waived for the period of war.

BADGERS TO USE AERIAL ATTACK AGAINST HOOSIERS

General Outlook Is Not One Of Overconfidence—Wil-Iams Speedy

By Associated Press
Madison—The forward passing attack which featured Wisconsin's play against the South Dakota Aggies last week, was stressed and further perfected at scrimmage, the last clash the varsity will have with the seconds before the Indiana contest Saturday.

The Hoosiers are to find the Badgers playing a large part of their game through the air, judging from the way the coaches are stressing the aerial attack.

If needed E. H. Gibson, right half back injured in Saturday's game will be able to play against Indiana. A special guard to protect his broken nose has been made to enable him to get into the fray.

Captain Rolfe Williams is showing his old speed and is an elusive as ever.

PROBABLE LINEUP
The lineup in practice includes Christianson and Hohfeld, guards, McNichols and Alton at center, Murray and Scherneck, tackles, and Barr, Williams, Gibson, and Taft composing the aggressive force.

The general outlook is not one of over-confidence, by any means, as the team is still in the rough to meet Indiana in the coming game.

HOOSIERS MAKE CHANGES
Bloomington, Ind.—With only four days of practice since the defeat at the hands of the University of Minnesota at Indianapolis last Saturday the Indiana squad left here Thursday for Madison and the second Western conference game on the crimson schedule. The Indiana men came through the Minnesota game without any serious injuries but the playing in that game resulted in at least two shifts in Hoosier lineup.

Temple Smith, who was a second string quarterback until last Saturday when he got into the Minnesota game during the last half and injected new life into the crimson, will start the game against Wisconsin at quarter.

E. S. Wilkins, the regular pilot has been showing well at left end, which position he played in high school and probably will start the game on that wing.

Milwaukee—Johnny Mendelsohn Milwaukee lightweight, was matched to box Lew Tandler here Nov. 3.

BROWNS AFTER 1923 PENNANT; BUY PLAYERS

By Associated Press
St. Louis—In an effort to bolster up his team for next year's pennant race, Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, who finished the 1922 season only one game behind the champion Yankees, has obtained 25 players from minor league clubs, including 11 pitchers, six infielders, six outfielders and two catchers.

The players were acquired through recall and purchase, 15 of them being purchased and ten recalled.

While no figures regarding the purchase prices of any of the players have been announced, it is reported that one group of eight cost $30,000 included in this group being Homer Ezzell, third baseman, who was purchased from the San Antonio Texas

NATIONAL DRIVE AGAINST FIREBUG

Systematic Campaign Is Started To Eliminate Crime Of Arson

By Edward M. Thiercy
Special to Post-Crescent

New York—A systematic campaign against the firebug has been begun by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Arson last year was worse than in any previous years, according to a report of the committee on incendiarism and arson.

Standardization of arson laws, defining the crime and fixing the penalty more rigidly in all the states, is the purpose of the campaign, according to an announcement by John B. Morton, president of the board.

Secret service men, under the direction of Frank R. Morgaridge, chief of the arson bureau, are scattered over the country investigating suspicious fires. They are on the trail of crooked adjusters as well as firebugs. Investigations were made into 832 fires last year, and 359 persons were arrested. Out of 210 cases brought to trial, 159 persons were convicted and 51 acquitted.

Heavy penalties imposed include a 20 to 40 years sentence for an Italian cobbler in New York who set fire to his kitchen and endangered the lives of 25 families in the same building.

A woman employed as a maid in Detroit was sent to the house of correction for from 10 to 20 years for setting fire to the home of her employer in revenge for a fancied grievance.

A Long Island pyromaniac, who out of a craving for excitement started fires that nearly cost several lives, got 33 years in Sing Sing.

Sentences of from one to 50 years and one to 15 years were imposed on men in San Francisco and Everett, Wash.

Standardization is necessary, officials say, because penalties are too severe in some states and too slight in others. Four states, Alabama, Delaware and North and South Carolina, have death penalties, but juries seldom inflict them.

A similar fault is found with the arson laws in Vermont and Mississippi, where death is the penalty if life is lost in a fire, and life imprisonment otherwise. Penalties in other states run from two to 50 years.

During the last three years, since model arson law has been promoted by the national board, ten states have made important changes in their arson statutes.

PUBLIC TO VISIT INSURANCE-BLDG

Formal Opening Is Planned For Dec. 20, Annual Meeting Date Of Association

Directors of the Aid Association for Lutherans are planning a formal opening for their new office building to be held on Dec. 20, the date of their annual meeting. The intention is to give everybody an opportunity to inspect the new building from the top floor where the home office is to be located to the basement.

It is possible that musical numbers will be rendered and brief talks given by some of the officers. No lengthy program will be offered. The intention is to keep visitors moving with as little interruption as possible.

The building committee, architects and contractors held an all-day session Friday in clearing up many matters pertaining to the new structure. Good progress is being made on the offices and halls of each floor and the marble for the stairways is daily expected. The passenger and freight elevators were installed some time ago.

LABOR SUSPICIOUS OF TRIBUNAL IN KANSAS

where if not satisfied with his employer's terms was pure myth and mockery. He could not even get in touch with the superintendent to talk over his grievances. If by some fortuity he did so and contended too long or too strenuously, he was discharged and if an American citizen, it was likely his place was taken by a foreign immigrant. As an individual he was helpless, but he had to live. His only remedy appeared to be to federate with others, and take such drastic action as would extort from his employer some measure of relief from conditions which could not be endured.

The Kansas court of industrial relations is an attempt to get justice for the workman in his relations with the employer and the law is powerful enough to make the employer obey, too. Then why is labor hostile? Mostly because the leaders have implanted a belief that the Kansas court will not do what it says it will.

It is true that 90 per cent of the cases before the Kansas court of industrial relations have been brought by employees and that out of 45 cases, 43 have been accepted without further argument though there are no court costs for employer or employee in appealing the case to the Supreme court of the state.

The rank and file of labor is in a receptive mood. Champions of the industrial court have found attentive audiences of working men ready to hear the true objectives of the new law. The labor leaders have a natural fear that if the Kansas court can represent the cause of the working man equitably there will be no further need for them. This is also a fallacy for the Kansas court doesn't take organization of disputes in most nonessential industries and there always has been and always will be need for spokesmen to argue the case of organized labor, and conduct negotiations for large groups of workers. (The attitude of employers in Kansas toward the industrial court will be covered in Saturday's dispatch.)

It's toasted. This one extra process gives a delightful quality that can not be duplicated

EXAS EXPECTED TO ELECT WOMAN LAWMAKER

Dallas, Tex.—Mrs. Edith E. Williams of Dallas is picked to be the first woman elected to a lawmaking body in Texas. She received the Democratic nomination in a spirited primary, defeating John E. Davis, who for years has been one of the leading members of the legislature. The nomination is said to insure election.

Mrs. Williams has been an attorney for several years. She is married and is the mother of three girls.

Mrs. Williams in her campaign promised, if elected, to propose legislation providing for a court of domestic relations, a eugenics bill and the amendment of the compulsory school law in order to assure that all children will have an opportunity at least to get a rudimentary education.

"I expect to devote all of my energies to legislation that will make for the betterment of the schools and the homes," she says.

You Can Get Back Your Grip On Health

Hope for the millions of unfortunate men and women who are victims of stomach trouble is sounded by John Kowalkofsk, of 756 25th-ave, Milwaukee, Wis. Mr. Kowalkofsk was a victim of stomach trouble in its worst form but was completely restored to health by taking Tanlac. He says:

"For nine years, stomach trouble kept me in misery all the time. My kidneys bothered me also and my back ached almost constantly. But I feel as fine as I could ask to feel now, for Tanlac put an end to these troubles and made a well man of me in every respect."

Undigested food ferments in the stomach and soon the entire system is filled with poisons. Tanlac was designed to restore the stomach to a healthy condition and build up the whole body. Millions everywhere have acclaimed its wonderful power. Get a bottle today.

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. adv.

FOURTH WARDERS HAVE NO CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT

Engineer Weissgerber Points To Many Improvements In South Side

In answer to the complaint that the Fourth ward is the ward most neglected by the city, O. F. Weissgerber, city engineer, points to an unusual number of improvements that were made in that part of Appleton.

One of the largest sewer projects in the city was carried out in the lower Fourth ward. Streets that were provided with sewers in that system are Riendist; Weimar-st., from Riendist to Newberry-st.; Newberry-st., between Weimar and Telulah-st.; Telulah-st., between Newberry and Candee-st.; Candee-st., between Telulah-st. and Walter-ave.

Probably the longest stretch of water main in the city is now being laid by Anthony Thomassen of Pond du Lac on South Division-st. This reaches from Maple-st. to Calumet-st., or clear through to the county line. Other water mains in the ward were laid on Candee-st. from Walter-ave to Telulah-st. and on two different sections on Harrison-st.

A long cement sidewalk was built on Calumet-st., from South Division-st. to Lake-st. Fremont-st. has been opened up from South Division-st. to Kernan-ave and the entire street was repaved. A number of repairs and new cement construction was ordered on Lake-st. The old-fashioned turtle back crossings that formerly served their purpose on muddy streets but now make rough riding for motorists have been leveled out to the crown of the street at a good many crossings this year. Cement crossings were built at South River and Jackson-sts., Lincoln and Jackson-sts. and Maple and Jackson-sts. A large number of aprons at crossings also were repaired.

WIND UP CASES ON CIRCUIT CALENDAR

Judge Werner Will Sit For Judge
Graess At Sturgeon Bay
Next Week

Judge Edgar V. Werner expects to clean up the cases on the circuit court calendar Friday afternoon. Next week he will go to Sturgeon Bay to sit for Judge Henry Graess. He will return on Oct. 27 to hear cases scheduled that day.

The case of T. M. Smith versus Appleton Chair company involving a sale of logs was amicably settled out of court without cost to either party. Juries have been waived in the case of Daniel N. Bessie vs. A. Goldin involving a sale of merchandise and the case of Leo P. Milhaupt vs. Anna Bruux. Both cases are scheduled for Oct. 27. The former case had been appealed from municipal court.

In the case of Elkhart Sand and Gravel Co. vs. B. C. Koepke involving a sale of sand and gravel the jury has been waived and attorneys granted leave to file additional complaint and an answer. The jury also has been waived in the case of Herbert Kieckhefer vs. N. Simon Cheese company. A material witness for the plaintiff is absent from the state and will not be able to return for several weeks.

Two cases are to be tried Nov. 13, for which juries already have been selected, namely the case of J. E. Huhn vs. Outagamie Limestone Co. involving labor and services, and the case of William New vs. Peter Melchior. Only 14 jurors will have to appear on that date. The remaining court case is that of Barnett Finkelstein vs. William H. Powers, in which Attorney Leo P. Fox of Chilton, was unable to appear.

'Y' ARRANGING WEEK OF PRAYER

Preliminary plans were made at the employed staff conference of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday morning for the observance of the week of prayer that is to be conducted by the association next month. The organization plans to cooperate with the churches.

The various committees for carrying on the year's work are being lined up. Those now operating and their chairmen are: Boys work committee, W. S. Ford, chairman; house committee, W. S. Smith, chairman; physical department committee, George H. Packard, chairman; religious work committee, J. E. Bond, chairman. The committee on social work and a permanent membership committee are being organized.

WILSON MAY BE DEPRIVED OF VOTE IN NEW JERSEY

By Associated Press
Trenton, N. J. — Decision by the Mercer county board of elections to enforce the New Jersey election law of 1920, which provides that a voter must cast his ballot in the district in which he actually resides and not elsewhere, probably will deprive former President Woodrow Wilson of his vote in New Jersey this year.

Mr. Wilson formerly lived in Princeton, which is a part of Mercer county and voted in the college town while he was president of the United States. He cannot vote in the district of Columbia where he now lives and ruling made recently bars him from voting here, according to the view of the local officials.

Eagle Company Kept Pace With Advance In Methods Of Farming

Invention Of Hay Carrier By Richard Miller Gave One Of City's Oldest Industries Its Start In Small Way

BY L. A. FISCHER
One of the oldest and best known industrial plants in the Fox River valley is the Eagle Manufacturing company. Its founder was Richard Miller, inventor of many farm implements and now president of Appleton Wood Products Co. and Advance Car Mover Co. The company had its origin in the old Eagle Fork company which was organized in 1881.

But the real start was probably made when Mr. Miller, who had learned the blacksmith and machinist trade in his youth, opened a shop in Stephentown in 1867. It was met his first reverse when his shop burned down in 1875. He then accepted employment with the Appleton Manufacturing company which has since left the city to operate in Batavia, Ill.

OPENED PLANT
Mr. Miller left this company's employment and began to manufacture the first swivel hay carrier in America which he himself invented. His first associates were John Kanouse and William Polifka, and the plant was located at Johnst. bridge where it had secured a lease on the water power. It was a building 30 by 50 feet in size, and about six men were employed.

In the year 1888 the company left its original location and moved to a site east of where the Fox River Paper company is now located. Hay tools of various kinds were the chief products.

The company became incorporated in 1888 under the name of Eagle Manufacturing company, when Edward Salberlich, who is still with the company, purchased the interest of John Kanouse. The officers of this company were Richard Miller, president; Edward Salberlich, vice president; William Polifka, secretary and treasurer. Some years later Mr. Salberlich served as treasurer.

ADD FEED CUTTER
A line of feed cutters was added by the company in 1894, and they have been manufactured by it ever since. Fortune favored the company when four or five successive dry seasons created a large demand among the farmers for feed cutters. As a result, the output of the company during this period was doubled almost every year.

A substantial loss was incurred in 1907, however, by a fire causing about $3,000 damages. This amount was important when it is considered that the entire investment was only about $12,000. The company had, nevertheless, built up a reliable trade, which is evidenced by the fact that customers who bought products from the plant are still doing business with the company.

Mr. Miller, founder of the company, sold out his interests to his associates in 1899 and thereupon organized the Appleton Hay Tool company. The Eagle Manufacturing company continued to manufacture feed cutters at its plant on the Fox river until 1901, when it began the manufacture of traction engines.

OUTGROW QUARTERS
In the year 1904 expanding business compelled the company to seek more space and it removed to 624 Winnebago-st. its present location. A

Quick Oats

Instant Quaker Oats

The quickest cooking oats in the world

Quaker Oats now come in two styles, the Instant and the regular. Instant Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest cooking oats in the world.

The two styles are identical in quality and flavor. Both are flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flaky oats. But have that lusciousness which has won the world to Quaker.

But in Instant Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And the small thin flakes cook quickly.

Your grocer has both styles. If you want the Instant look for "Instant" on the label. Those oats will cook perfectly in 3 to 5 minutes.

MR. SCHNEIDER, MR. COMINGS AND THE LAWYERS
Mr. Schneider in his speeches to the electors of the Ninth congressional district has placed the ban on lawyers for public office. Lieut. Gov. George F. Comings, who is accompanying him on a leave of absence, says aye! aye! declaring it is high time government and legislation were taken out of the hands of men who practice law.
But when Mr. Schneider or Mr. Comings says lawyers ought not to be elected to office, he does not mean all lawyers. Oh, no, of course not. He means only Judge Graess. It is all right to elect Mr. Blaine, who is a lawyer, and Mr. La Follette, who is a lawyer. There is something in the soil and air about Boscobel and Madison which seems to grow lawyers that can be transplanted with success to congress or to the state capitol. But in the case of the Ninth district it is different. The climate here apparently is not indigenous for lawyers who aspire to public life. Perhaps it is because of the vast tracts of more or less wild land, or maybe it is because it contains Indian reservations, where, we understand, there is a bounty on lawyers, that makes the legally trained men so undesirable as a lawmaker.
It is a good thing for Mr. Schneider that he was not educated in the law or did not attempt its practice, for in that event he would be disqualified for office and Mr. Comings would be denied the pleasure of coming over to the Ninth district and enlightening the voters on his merits and on the perils of entrusting public service to members of the legal profession.
Judge Graess is a lawyer, at least he was before he was elected to the bench. That much will have to be admitted. But perhaps it might be advanced as an extenuating circumstance that he got his inspiration for the law and part of his early training from Senator La Follette, with whom he was in close contact while he was working his way through the University of Madison and for whom he used to do many errands. Has Mr. Comings thought of this?
We do not know much about Henry Graess the lawyer at Sturgeon Bay. That was before our time, but evidently his record there was not so bad, else his constituents would not have elected him circuit judge and his former fellow townsmen would not now be rallying to his support. Perhaps he may not after all be unfitted for congress because he once practiced law. It is just barely possible that his record on the bench for integrity, fairness and capacity, his experience in the law, coupled with his broad human sympathies, may be an asset in his favor. Instead of unfitting him for public service, may not these things be a large aid to his usefulness? Because of his knowledge of the constitution and the laws and his close contact with the people and their problems may he not be better able to legislate intelligently and for the protection and welfare of his constituents? May we not humbly recommend this thought to Mr. Comings? Also, that the real test of a man's qualifications is not whether he is a lawyer, a judge or is engaged in some other pursuit, but whether he is a man of understanding, with a high conception of public duty and a real desire to serve his country and his fellowmen? Certainly this is the standard the nation has applied to men in public life, whether they be legislators, governors or the president.
Perhaps it has escaped Mr. Comings' memory that some twenty of our twenty-nine presidents were lawyers, among them Lincoln. Perhaps it has escaped his attention that lawyers had a prominent place in drafting the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of the United States. Politics is a strange business. It makes men say and do strange things. It makes some of them forget responsibility for what they say. Nine times out of ten it makes those who are not sincere, or those who are seeking to gain office through appeals to prejudice and through other devious methods, expose themselves sooner or later.

The legal profession is like every other profession, it has its weak and its strong ones, its men of lofty ideals and its men of low ideals, its men of principle and its men without principle. In the main, we owe the institutions of this country including beneficent legislation in the interest of the people, the legislation that Mr. Schneider and his campaign friends like to refer to as progressive legislation and as legislation fathered by Mr. La Follette, to our lawyers. The nation's debt to the legal profession, much as it may be maligned by the unthinking, is very great.
Mr. Schneider and Mr. Comings do not think of this in their campaign speeches attacking men engaged in the practice of law. They do not think of the implied reflection upon Senator La Follette and Governor Blaine. They think only of discrediting Judge Graess. It is typical of the campaign they are making, a campaign of generalities to catch the ear of those who let their feelings run away with their judgment. The din and cry against the legal profession is merely a ruse to beat Judge Graess. Are the people of the Ninth congressional district to be taken in by such evident political chicanery?

LLOYD GEORGE RESIGNS
The resignation of Premier Lloyd George and the coalition ministry, although plainly forecast by the Birmingham speech of Austen Chamberlain and the Manchester speech of the prime minister the day following, and made necessary by the Tory meeting at the Carlton court, comes rather suddenly as a political event of world interest. Mr. Lloyd George, the only one of the commanding statesmen of the World-war to survive its tumultuous after-effects, has been a rock over which the waters of British political discontent have washed and up to this time spent themselves.
The prime minister at Manchester made out a good case for his administration, although we think Mr. Chamberlain did the job somewhat more convincingly than his chief. The former was smarting under the taunts and prodings of the die-hards, and he let go pretty hard at his predecessor. Herbert Asquith and Lord Grey for the weakness of their diplomacy in meeting the situation that led up to the war. We may think what we may of that diplomacy, and speculate as to whether more vigor and firmness would have averted the war, but when we come down to the recent crisis in the Near east there is no question but what the strong-arm methods employed by Lloyd George toward the Turks prevented the spread of a disastrous war into Europe, that they saved Constantinople from a worse fate than Smyrna, protected the helpless christians of Thrace against butchery and preserved the freedom of the Dardanelles. For the success of this bold policy the British nation and with it the civilized world ought to be thankful, for it is morally certain the policy of patience agitated by the opposition would have failed.
Mr. Lloyd George occupies a peculiar place in British politics. He is the type of statesman familiar to American life, but heretofore quite unknown in England or at least in the high places of government. British tradition associates only the aristocracy with political power. Most of the prime ministers have been men of noble birth, intellectuals or profound students of government, rising step by step to power, in which social status had a great deal to do with the elevation. Lloyd George forced his way to the front as an innovator, a man of the humblest origin, lacking both blood and culture, a plain man of the people, a great commoner. That is one of the reasons why he has been so cordially disliked by the conservatives, where title and caste count for most. It is one of the reasons why he is underrated and ridiculed by men who pretend to pass fair criticism upon him and his ability.
At times he has been somewhat shifty, at times he has seemed to play the opportunist, at least these charges are freely made against him, but he has had a giant hold on the popular imagination which the most adroit of British politicians have thus far been unable to shake. This undoubtedly is because he is a man of the people and has always staked his policies on direct appeal to them. The success of his administration has been in no small measure due to the loyalty of conservatives like Austen Chamberlain, Lord Balfour and Birkenhead, but it also reflects great credit upon the prime minister that he has been able to hold the confidence and support of such formidable figures in British political life.

Few Englishmen, we think, realize the quality or extent of the service Lloyd George has given his country in the last six years. He has brought it through some of the gravest perils the nation ever faced, possibly he has averted even revolution. There will be exciting times there the next few months. It is quite unlikely that a purely conservative government can be maintained. It is not at all improbable that Lloyd George may come back to power through a re-alignment of parties, which for the time being will be left in a chaotic state by the resignation of the premier and the breaking up the coalition.

TREAT THE HIDE KINDLY
Letter from a misapprehensive lady:
"My dear Doctor Brady:
"After bathing, with even the best soap, soft or hard water, warm or cool, tepid or hot, I suffer an intense burning itch that nearly drives me frantic. It lasts about 30 minutes and leaves me weak and sick. Please tell me what to do. I am afraid I shall have to go bathless. I have suffered in this way for years, although I bathe not more than twice weekly, as a rule, sometimes only once a week.
"Sincerely yours,
"MRS. C. P. F.
Here is a harbinger of the long, hard winter approaching. Hide away all the calendars and still I can tell the season unerringly by the questions readers ask. And I need not depend on bay fever or chilblains either. A slight rise in the incidence of itch among our best families or at any rate the most washed families tells me as plainly as the falling leaves that the melancholy days have come. The dust of the year so far as the poor old hide of our cultured classes is concerned.
Happy is he who fairly itches to bathe, but these melancholy days are indeed hard on misguided folk who have only to itch. I mean this quite seriously. The happiest persons I have known and envied, were delightfully grimy, and the most miserable, gloomy and despondent creatures it has ever been my misfortune to deal with were distressingly and even obsessively clean in a purely artificial way—that is, so far as frequent body washing goes.
Four natural factors keep the human hide smooth, soft, clean and free from blemishes. These factors are: the sebum or oil excreted by the skin, the sunlight and the oxygen of the air, which is a natural disinfectant and deodorizer. But, alas, the more civilized and cultured we are the less chance have these natural factors. Indeed, it is unrefined, unhygienic, unfashionable or improper to give any of these natural factors a fair show. And the poor old hide suffers, of course.
Then we add insult to injury by applying an irritant detergent, a rather powerful chemical substance called soap, more or less frequently, to aid in removing grime which the natural factors do not fail to remove for creatures living natural lives. This irritant detergent does remove grime, all right, along with the grime it removes also something essential to the well being of the skin, the natural skin oil or sebum which preserves the softness of the skin texture and protects the skin against cold. Having removed the oil we should not be surprised if the skin becomes harsh and sensitive and easily irritated and susceptible to disease.
It ought to be a simple problem in common sense to know what to do if a bath leaves the hide on edge, as our misapprehensive correspondent describes. Ask any chemist for the answer. "I'm sure he'll say 'Don't bathe!'
Well, is you must bathe, use no soap.
If you must soap, then use only cool or tepid water, and the less of that the better and follow the bath by an application of this skin cream to replace the skin oil and prevent itching:
Lanolin 2 drams
Doroglycerid 1 dram
(Cold cream made with white vaselin).
..... 6 drams
This is to be placed in a collapsible tube. If itching is severe four grains of menthol may be added to the formula.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Friday, October 22, 1897
W. A. Clark returned from an extended eastern trip.
Mrs. Max Mayer was spending the week with Oshkosh friends.
Miss Mary M. K. Gochbauer was in Milwaukee on city business.
The Rev. R. H. Pooley, formerly of Appleton, was transferred from Oak Park, Ill., to Rockford.
Miss Maud Cook and Miss Hattie Healy of Neenah were guests in the family of Capt. J. H. Cook.
T. A. Willy returned from Fremont, where besides bagging ducks he captured three wild geese.
Martin Golden and wife of Menomonee and Lieut. Lute Golden of Chicago, who were called here by the illness of Mrs. Golden, returned to their homes.
The new Lyons building of College Ave. adjoining the Schlatter Hardware Co. building, was rapidly taking form.
The entertainment course of the Young Men's Sunday Evening club consisted of The Seemanns Land orchestra, the Rev. J. J. Lewis, "The Passion Play", Mrs. Maude Ballington Booth, "The Criminal Problem", The Rev. Robert Nelson, Lieut. Robert Peary, "Artic Explorations", and George Riddle and the Beethoven Orchestra club.
W. H. Goodenough, superintendent of the paper mill at DePere, owned a third interest in a revolving suction box for paper machines patented by Baker & Nash of Menasha.
W. C. Peterson, a former resident of Appleton, died at Antigo, where he had been engaged in the real estate business for about 12 years.

Daily Editorial Digest

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

NEAR EASTERN SETTLEMENT REMOVES PRESENT WAR DANGER
The armistice agreement, which ended the threat of war in the Near East, has been accepted by editors as only a temporary relief. Everything depends on what can be accomplished at the actual peace conference still to be held and in many quarters doubt is expressed whether the conflicting interests can be reconciled. Unless there is complete unity among the allies it is believed the problem of keeping the Turk within reasonable limits must prove a difficult one.
"While the armistice has given pause to many near eastern developments at a time when they were rushing to a crisis the many sided problem remains to be solved," asserts the Atlanta JOURNAL, while the Charleston MAIL points out that "we have an armistice and a conference instead of war because Great Britain was prepared." Agreeing to this the Indianapolis NEWS in turn suggests that "the world accepts the settlement in the hope that out of it may come a final adjustment of what has been a difficult problem." It is the opinion of the Muskegon CHRONICLE, however, that "this is a case of peace being preserved at too great a cost in principle and too great a cost in expediency. The Mohammedan, made arrogant by this evidence of his restored prowess, is not going to be made any more tractable in the dependencies of the Allies." Not alone is this the fact, but, as the Green Bay PRESS GAZETTE sees it, for its part, "the Turks are no longer weak—that is the point that changes the entire situation in the Near East."

PAINLEVE'S ENTHUSIASM FOR GLIDING
Paris.—M. Paul Painleve, in a striking article in the PETIT JOURNAL, is the latest among illustrious Frenchmen to disclose himself as a fervent apostle of motorless flying. M. Painleve's comparatively recent entry into political life—he was Premier for a short time during the war—has perhaps led many people to overlook the fact that his fame in the role of scientist has always been immensely greater than in that of a politician, and that he has for many years been recognized as one of the greatest mathematicians and authorities on mechanics of his time.
M. Painleve is convinced that the experiments which are now going on in nearly every country in connection with motorless flights are of immense importance.
First, because they are the best school for the perfectionment of the artificial wing and the development of its supporting qualities; and, secondly, because a thorough apprenticeship in motorless flight will surely bring about the accomplishment of long distance aerial travel with the minimum of expenditure of motor derived energy.
"I am convinced," M. Painleve added, "that man will succeed in accomplishing prolonged flights on apparatus completely deprived of motor, and that he will need no exterior help in order to be able to fly. For practical use on a large scale, however, I believe that a light planing machine furnished with an auxiliary motor consuming little fuel and working only at certain moments will be the apparatus that will enable long distances to be accomplished at little cost. It will be the privilege of some exceptionally vigorous men to be able to drive the propellers of their machines by the use of their legs only. I deduce from this that in practice the machines approximating more to the motor-bicycle than to the bicycle will be used by the majority of flying men of the future."
The motorless flying machine is the flying machine of the future. People speculate too often on the belief that only rising air currents are to be used in motorless flight. This method of locomotion appears to be regarded by many people as an imitation of the flight of the great vultures, who rise on a few strokes of their wings and progress without further effort, and of the rectilinear flight of the same great birds in the deserts at sunset, when the warm air rising from the sand causes an ascending current over an immense extent of territory. This, however, is to limit the possibilities of motorless flight to an unjustifiable extent.
"We must take a much larger view than this and base our conceptions on the way in which migratory birds fly on horizontal currents of varying character. These birds cover immense distances without any other muscular effort than feeble movements necessary to lean from one side to the other or forward or backward in order to receive the greatest amount of support from the winds. This manner of flying in variable horizontal winds, in which the bird by side-slipping slightly to the right or to the left by sinuosities, advances at great speed against the wind, is most frequent and most important of all."
This is the kind of flying, M. Painleve maintained, that man will realize before long. The day will come, therefore, when a man carrying with him light apparatus, either without a motor of any kind or furnished with a low-powered auxiliary motor, may be able to imitate the birds and traverse vast spaces.

SMOKERS BOYCOTT WEED
London.—The Express says one hundred smokers at Crediton, a small town near Exeter, have gone on a strike against the high price of tobacco.
They declare that they will light neither pipe nor cigarette until tobacco is cheaper, and that they will strike no match unless to light a beacon that shall bring all their brothers of the West Country flocking to their banner.

Are You Overworked
If you think you are overworked, consider the activities of Joseph Simon, a Syrian, 40 years old. In Chicago court he tells the judge that, in addition to being head of the Purist White religion, he is writing a new Bible of 2000 pages, inventing a new clock and a revised calendar, also working out a 13 letter alphabet and a simplified system of spelling and talking.
Wonder what he does in his spare time.
When it comes to instrumental music, Americans still are in a state of savagery, says Prof. Peter W. Dykema, of University of Wisconsin. He thinks that jazz has a rhythm, vivacity and verve that are real contributions to music and that the trouble with jazz usually is the players rather than jazz itself.
It must stun materialists, this suggestion that savagery is something more profound than bricks, metal-working and automatic machines. As for jazz, it is a good principle ruined in its execution.
With Professor Dykema calling us musical savages, it makes us wonder what real civilization is.
Civilization is not a matter of material progress. Nor is savagery. Real civilization is spiritual, its degree determined by treatment of fellow-men. A kindly old Offway Indian, charitable and tolerant to all life, is a more highly civilized type than the greedy, ruthless business "genius."
And some of the world's worst barbarians ride in limousines and fly-overs.
Albert M. Parmeter, described as "the oldest striker in the world," is buried at Burlington, Iowa. He was a railroad engineer, walked out during the strike of 1888, and never returned to the job. He had been "on strike" 34 years when death the final arbitrator.
As an example of will power, he stands out among millions. There is such a thing, however, as having too much will power and resistance for one's own good. Life is a chain of reluctant but necessary compromises. No one ever gets exactly what he wants.
Turkeys soon will be drawn on schoolroom black boards. No Thanksgiving or Christmas complete without them.
So genuine regret will be felt nationally at the government report that in 10 years the number of turkeys on American farms decreased from 6,595,000 to about 3,627,000.
Is the turkey in danger of extinction? Important issue. To children the fate of turkey is more important than the fate of Turkey.
Teeth should be put in laws making parents responsible for wrong conduct of their children. So urges District Attorney O'Brien, addressing the Jewish Big Brother Association of Boston.
As emphasized previously, something eventually will have to be done along this line. American youth these days is the target of many hot shots. The trouble generally is with parents, not with their offspring.

Q. Just what is butter? What I want to know is, is there any official definition of or standard for butter?
C. E. V.
A. On August 2, 1886, Congress defined butter as follows: That for the purpose of this act the word "butter" shall be understood to mean the food product usually known as butter, and which is made exclusively from milk or cream, or both, without common salt, and with or without additional coloring matter."
On February 17, 1898, Congress passed a law effective in the District of Columbia, establishing a standard of butter of 83 per cent milk fat and 12 per cent water. On June 6, 1906, under an act of Congress approved March 3, 1903, the Secretary of Agriculture defined butter as follows: "butter is the clean non-rancid product made by gathering in any manner the fat of fresh or ripened milk or cream into a mass, which also contains a small portion of the other milk constituents, with or without salt, and contains not less than 82.5 per cent of milk fat."
Q. What is the origin of the saying "queer as Dick's hatband"? F. M. M.
A. We have traced it as far back as 1785 when the expression was "as queer as Dick's hatband" that went 9 times round and wouldn't meet." The origin of the phrase was not known.
Q. Are gifts sent from abroad subject to duty? F. J. L.
A. The Customs House says that gifts coming from abroad are taxed.
Q. What proportion of the automobiles made, are closed cars? A. Q.
A. The output of open cars in 1921 was 1,173,000 and of closed cars, 335,000. This was about 22 per cent of the total output.
Q. What is a tiger in Poker? J. H.
A. This is a Poker hand which is seven high and deuce low; without a pair, sequence, or flush. Such a hand beats a straight but loses to a flush.
Q. Is maple made any place outside the United States? F. Z. J.
A. The production of maple sugar and maple syrup is purely an American industry, Canada being the only country other than the United States where they are made.
Q. In speaking of strength of materials, what is meant by stress and strain? H. E. O.
A. There is much confusion among writers as to the definitions of these terms. An external force applied to a body, so as to pull it apart, is resisted by an internal force or resistance, and the action of these forces cause a displacement of the molecules of deformation. By some the external force is called stress and the internal force is called strain. By others the names are reversed. This confusion of terms is not important, as the words are commonly used synonymously.
Q. Are bathing places an important factor in transmitting disease? H. E. W.
A. A questionnaire on the subject was sent to 2,000 physicians recently. Of the 350 replies received, 70 per cent believed bathing places are important factors in spreading some diseases; 25 per cent thought they were not; 4 per cent expressed no opinion. The writers considered infections of eye, ear, nose, throat, skin, venereal and gastro-intestinal diseases among those which had been transmitted at bathing places. Another question was asked to which there was a more general response. When asked whether accidents or transmission of disease was a greater danger in swimming pools, 439 opinions were given. Sixty-five per cent considered danger of infection the more important; 26 per cent drownings or accidents; and 9 per cent held that both were equally important.

Mrs. M'Gillan Named Head Of C. O. F. Auxiliary

Mrs. George P. McGillan was elected president of the Womans auxiliary of the Catholic Order of Foresters at the meeting at Forester home on Thursday evening. Mrs. P. H. Ryan was made vice president, Mrs. J. P. Morneau, secretary, and Mrs. Leo Rechner, treasurer.

Plans were made for a big card party to be held Thursday afternoon and evening of next week. The proceeds from the party will go toward the hospital bills of the society, which has been doing a great deal of charity work in the hospital that will probably be taken care of by the free bed fund when it is established. Winners at cards at the regular meeting on Thursday evening were Mrs. Leo Rechner at schafkopf and Mrs. Joseph Gulick at bridge.

PARTIES

Mrs. S. H. Cooke of Kaukauna will entertain all the hikers from Appleton Womans club at her home on Sunday afternoon after the girls have hiked from the clubhouse to Kaukauna. All girls who wish to be included in the hike are asked to telephone the clubhouse in order that Mrs. Cooke may know how many to expect.

At the clubhouse in the afternoon on Sunday there will be a special program besides the usual Sunday afternoon cozy features. Miss Florence Lovell of Lawrence Conservatory of Music and Miss Frances Caldwell of Neenah will be on the program.

Members of the TM TM club had a picnic and auto ride on Thursday afternoon. The ride took them to Appleton Womans club cottage where they remained for the afternoon and early evening.

Baskets and trays, which are being made by the basketry club of Appleton Womans club, are progressing rapidly after the first meeting at the clubhouse at 5:45 Thursday evening. The storage space for the red and pine needles is completely filled with many partly finished works of art.

A Halloween picnic will be given for friends of the Woodcraft league of Appleton Womans club at Alicia park on Thursday evening of next week. At the meeting on Thursday evening, the members decided to give another dance in Armory G on Dec. 5.

A number of friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. George Regentuss at their home, 1072 Franklin, Sunday. The party was in honor of their thirty-second wedding anniversary and also Mrs. Regentuss' birthday anniversary. Games and cards furnished the entertainment.

A card party was given in St. John church, Menasha, Thursday evening. The Appleton persons attending were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dietzen, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schulz, Mr. and Mrs. John Beaulieu, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Hearden, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Boehnlein, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Waydowski, Mrs. Wenzel Hantschel, Mrs. John Knudt, Mrs. George Dohy, Mrs. Anton Mys, Mrs. Christina Goss and son Martin and Mrs. William Beson. Prizes were won by three Appleton persons, Mrs. Anton Boehnlein, Mrs. Peter Whydowski and Mrs. Wenzel Hantschel.

Members of the Merry club surprised Mrs. Arthur Schroeder at her home, 722 Second-ave, Thursday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. Prizes were won at cards by Mrs. William Kihorst, Miss Minnie Schalo and Herman Behlender.

The Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters will give a dinner-dance at Castle hall Friday evening. The dinner will be followed by a short program.

Appleton Maennerchor will hold its first open schafkopf tournament, Sunday evening. The party will be held at 8 o'clock in Musician hall.

A card party was given Thursday afternoon in St. Joseph hall by St. Joseph Ladies Aid society. There were 12 tables in play. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. C. Frank, Mrs. A. Krutzberg, Miss Mary Steifalter, at plumpack, Mrs. A. Zickler, Mrs. H. Schmitz, Mrs. Catherine Buhtz, and Mrs. C. Reisdorf. The next card party will be given Oct. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Tyra and children of Pickeral Lake are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Smejkal, 355 Cherry-st.

LEAGUE TO MEET TO HEAR REPORTS

Another special meeting of the Farmer-Labor Progressive League of Outagamie-co has been called for Saturday evening in Trades and Labor hall. Further reports are to be made by precinct chairman and additional instructions given for combing each of 46 precincts in the county in the interests of the state, legislative and congressional Republican candidates.

Adhering to its past policy, the league will not participate in county politics. The only real county contest is that between Herman J. Kamps, Republican nominee, and John P. Hantschel, Independent Democratic candidate, for county clerk. It is understood that the league will not offer to endorse either of the candidates, but leave the matter of choice to the individual.

Masked Frolic For Camp Fire Girls Planned

All Camp Fire girls of Appleton will assemble at the high school gymnasium at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, masked and in costume. Then the fun will begin since Saturday evening is the time of the big Camp Fire party when more than 100 of the girls will be entertained.

Committees have been appointed from the Camp Fire Guardians association and the Camp Fire committee to make arrangements for decorations, refreshments and program. Members of these committees are hard at work to insure the girls a good time.

Courting Green Bay Maid? Young Man, Watch Step

By Associated Press

Green Bay—Men who have any intention of marrying Green Bay girls are advised to watch their step. A word to the girls of this city on the merits of a good husband is being handed to all attending the mass of Father O'Leary, who last Sunday delivered one of a series of lectures advising girls not only how to choose a better husband but how to become more responsible, efficient and successful housewives.

Father O'Leary in his address, scored the large number of divorces in the country and assigned reasons indicating the cause to be mutual, both the fault of the girl and the boy. In the first sermon he made out a set of rules which he said would be of help to the girl in her choice of a husband and a help to the husband if his wife followed them.

Following are the points stressed as leading the girl to a genuine union: "1. Learn the subjects of cookology, washology, sewology and mendology so as to render yourself an asset and not a liability."

"2. Look out for the man who disrespectfully refers to his parents as the 'old man' or the 'old woman.' He will soon forget you, when your bright features are dimmed with age and call you 'old girl' and be looking for another one."

"3. Shun the fellow who is everybody's good friend. He will never be anyone's husband after his marriage."

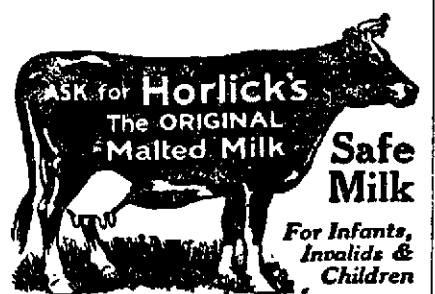

"4. Don't entertain a long courtship. If a girl can't read a man like a book after a year or six months, she had better put the book on the shelf and close it. On the other hand don't be too hasty."

CLUB MEETINGS

Arrangements for a reception for the high school faculty were made by the H-Y club at its weekly meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. The reception is to be held Wednesday evening, Oct. 25 in the Y. M. C. A. assembly room. Nine members were formally received into the club at the meeting and were instructed to continue wearing their green caps until Monday as part of their initiation.

The Dodgers were entertained Thursday evening at the home of Miss Rosetta Hertl on Atlantic-st. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 31, at the home of Miss Elsie Laurisch, 831 Drew-st.

The Bridge club met Thursday evening with Mrs. Joseph Jones on Eighth-st. The honors were won by Mrs. Edgar Walter and Mrs. G. T. Kamps.

Seek 100 For Home-Making Group Of Club

The Home Economics department of Appleton Womans club wants 100 new members according to the information which it is sending out before its meeting at the clubhouse on Monday. The time of meeting has been set for 2:30 for that meeting only, instead of the usual 3 o'clock hour. Every present member of the department is asked to be present and all women who are not members are especially asked to be there.

Several projects of the department will be discussed including the idea of a womans exchange, a womans club cook book and ways of raising money. Two women in Milwaukee cleared $400 for their club in two days and the local women hope to be able to add a considerable sum to the building fund of the club this year.

LEGION MARIMBA DANCE IS TONIGHT

Spanish Soprano Will Put Finishing Touches On Unique Musical Treat

At the dancing party of the Oney Johnston post of the American legion on Friday evening, the most unusual dance music of the season will be offered by the Royal Tropical Marimba band. The post has brought this orchestra, over which dancers are most enthusiastic in the cities to Appleton at great expense in order to make its party the big dance event of the year.

An unusual feature will be put on in the course of the evening, when Senorita Elena Camacho, a little Spanish soprano, will put on a program with the hand. The instruments used by the band are similar to xylophones but the tone is softer and more melodic and the method of playing is different. A wave of popularity is being felt in this country for marimba music from South America just as the Hawaiian craze swept the country several years ago. The band is made up of expert musicians who play dance rhythm that will rival any "jazz" orchestra which has ever appeared in the armory.

The Magic of Furniture

A HOUSE or a home—a good deal depends on the proper selection of Furniture and the furnishings of the rooms. Furniture is the medium that transforms cold space and bare walls into warm friendly surroundings. Our business is not simply to sell Furniture. We like to think of it as building homes.

We will send our interior decorator out to your house to get an idea of the sizes of the rooms and their exposures, the kind of paper on the walls and the woodwork if you desired. When you come to our store, he will be in a position to make any suggestions you may want.

This doesn't mean you will have to spend a lot of money to furnish the new home. We have different grades of furniture but each is of thoroughly dependable quality.

It doesn't pay to get anything but the best in furniture. If you buy good furniture at the start, you will always have it. The furniture you buy here today will satisfy you just as much in the years to come as it does now. Whatever you buy here is guaranteed to satisfy, and if it doesn't we will cheerfully refund your money.

MRS. STRITZEL'S FUNERAL SUNDAY

One Of County's Earliest Settlers Dies At Hospital In Green Bay

Special to Post-Crescent.
Seymour—Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at German Evangelical Lutheran church for Mrs. August Stritzel, Sr., 77, who died Tuesday morning in a hospital at Green Bay. The Rev. F. H. Ohlrogge, pastor, will be in charge. Burial will be in the city cemetery.

Mrs. Stritzel was one of the earliest settlers in this locality. She came to Seymour with her husband 50 years ago and settled on a tract of uncleared land a mile and a half north of here. They couple resided there until 1903, when they sold their farm to their son and moved to a 10-acre place which is the present home.

Mrs. Stritzel was a member of the Lutheran church for 50 years. She is survived by her widower, five daughters, Mrs. Mary Glawe, Iowa, Mrs. P. Cahlish, Brillon; Mrs. Emma Heinrich, Appleton; Mrs. Annie Blomrich, Shawano; Mrs. Ada Reitz, Shawano; one son, August Stritzel, Jr., Seymour.

TITLED TURKISH WOMEN TO DO WELFARE WORK

By Associated Press.
Constantinople—Turkish women, emerging from the seclusion of ages, are about to undertake welfare work in Constantinople. Ten Turkish married women are being trained as nurses under the auspices of the American Red Cross. When proficient they will be deputed to make visits to the Turkish quarters of the city, where they will see that hygienic conditions are observed, that children are well fed and that the family food is properly cooked.

The first group of women will be selected from the nobility.

Electricity Will Be Used To Heat New Municipal Building

Only Municipal Structure In The World Heated Entirely With Electricity—Contains Many Innovations

Kaukauna—When the municipal administration building now being built by the city electrical department is completed, equipped and ready for occupancy, it will be the first building in the United States to be heated entirely by electricity. The structure is nearing completion and the heating apparatus has been installed. The switchboard which distributes power and heat to 15 circuits is in place and safety devices render it fool proof. Three transformers of 75 kilowatts each reduce the voltage from 2,300 to 220 volts. The rest of the heating plant consists of numerous heaters ranging from 2 to 5 kilowatts with a total heating load for the building of 225 kilowatts.

Thirteen heaters are portable and will be installed in the basement. 22 non-portable heaters will be installed on the first floor and 25 will be placed on the second floor. A 75 kilowatt indirect electric heater will be installed in the fan room in place of the usual steam boiler. The fan will change the air in the building without affecting the temperature.

The heating plant is supplemented by two emergency boilers for steam heating in case anything should cause the power to be shut off at the power house.

Six shower baths are in place near the swimming pool. The pool is practically completed, the tile pavement having been laid and painting has been done.

One feature in the basement is the automatic sewage ejector. The floor of the basement is below the level of the river, making it necessary to force the sewage out. Other rooms in the basement of the building are given over to workshops for the vocational school. Some of the rooms will be used for store rooms of the electrical department.

The entire interior upstairs and down, is taking on a finished appearance. The plastering will be completed by next week and the floors are being finished off. The roof of the structure is flat and is broken only by the huge chimney and by the belfry which is destined never to hold a bell. A large electric siren, however, will take the place of a bell. It will be installed next week and tested and will be used for fire alarm purposes and as a curfew. The siren will be wired so it can be operated from various stations in the city.

KAUKAUNA BOY WINNER OF SHETLAND PONY PRIZE

Kaukauna—Master Melvin Mainville, 9 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mainville, will be the proud owner of a new shetland pony and saddle to Melvin by a monthly magazine contest. The prize was awarded to Melvin by a monthly magazine contest which he saw advertised in the Post-Crescent a few months ago. The contest opened on Aug. 1 and closed Oct. 1 and took place in every state in the country. Melvin started in the contest about the middle of the first month and won third prize for the first month's work. At the end of the second month he was awarded first cash prize for best work during September.

A letter dated Oct. 15 was received here this week with Melvin's name at the head of a list of eleven prize winners.

BUSSES CHANGE SCHEDULE
Kaukauna—Motor busses operating between Appleton and Kaukauna were forced to change their schedule as a result of the action of the Appleton city council in passing a bus ordinance regulating the time of stopping and leaving that city. From now on the busses will leave Kaukauna on the hour and on the half hour giving local people 15 minutes service to Appleton through the schedules of the interurban cars and the motor busses.

7 STUDENTS WIN SPECIAL MERITS

Kaukauna—Seven students out of a total of 251 in the high school received grades for the first six weeks of school work that warranted the award of a special merit. A special merit is granted to a student with an average of 90 per cent or above in all his studies and in deportment.

For the first time in several years no members of the freshman class have arisen above the ranks of their fellows to receive the recognition of good work, especially during the first period. In the sophomore class there were three, Marie Berend, Hanna Jackel and Berandine Wurl. Two juniors, Helen Arps and Margaret Wurl, and two seniors, Elizabeth Schussman and Harold Frank, also received special merits.

CREAMERY OWNER WEDS GIRL FROM KAUKAUNA

Special to Post-Crescent.
Hortonville—Wednesday afternoon occurred the marriage of Miss Blanche Heger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Heger of Kaukauna, to Richard Schartan, son Mrs. Emma Schartan, Hortonville. The marriage took place at the Lutheran parsonage, Kaukauna, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Aelord. The couple was attended by Miss Linda Heger and Armand Schartan.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple left Thursday morning for a wedding trip through Milwaukee and Chicago. Upon their return they will make their home in Hortonville on Nye-st. The bridegroom is the owner of the Hortonville creamery.

U. S. As Land Of Plenty Is Delight To German Pair Seeking For New Homeland

Special to Post-Crescent.
Dale—America, with its variety and abundance of food at low prices, is a wonderland to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warning, who arrived here from Wismar, Mecklenburg, Germany, and are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krenke.

It was an odd experience to have delicious meals set before them in quantities of which they could eat their fill, for in Germany the food is still rationed out. Flour cannot be purchased and each person is allowed only one loaf of bread a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Warning, the latter a cousin of Mrs. Krenke, made the trip to Dale in 13 days, leaving Germany Sept. 30. They intend to make their home in this locality, where the husband will follow his trade as a machinist. Mrs. Warning experienced her first automobile ride when she was conveyed to the farm from the depot in Mr. Krenke's car.

One day's wages as a machinist would purchase one pound of butter in Germany, Mr. Warning said. He enumerated to a group of workers at a potato digging bee at the Krenke farm the luxuries that could be bought here with a day's pay as compared to the bare necessities that would usurp all a man could earn in Germany. BERLIN PAPER THIEVES STRIP CITY OF POSTERS

By Associated Press.
Berlin—Billboard strippers constitute a new type of thief on Berlin's police blotter. Due to the increased value of wastepaper, the plundering of street advertisement has set in. The thieves work at night, and so far have confined their activities mainly to the round poster pillars which dot the city's thoroughfares, adorned with varicolored bills advertising theaters, restaurants, dance halls, etcetera. One young man was found to have torn down 50 kilograms of old paper and stored it at home for future sale.

100 ADVERTISING MEN OF STATE HEAR NOTED SPEAKER

ADVERTISING IS BUSINESS TALKING TO BUYING PUBLIC

E. S. Goldstein, Advertising Clubs President, Defines Merchant Publicity

"Advertising is not salesmanship on paper; it is not news of business. It bears the same relation to business as the voice to a human being, it is the means of communication. It is the means of communication the same as the telegraph or the telephone. It is the means by which you can send your message all over the world."

Thus was advertising defined by E. S. Goldstein of Cleveland, O., president of the Associated Retail Advertisers association, at a meeting of more than 100 advertising men and women of Fox river valley at the Sherman house Thursday evening. At the conclusion of his address he gave his audience an opportunity to ask questions.

FROM CRADLE TO GRAVE
The address followed a banquet at which George Gibson of Toledo, O., acted as toastmaster. Mr. Gibson was introduced by I. G. Moyle, president of the local advertising club. Mr. Secor of Vausau rendered two vocal solos.

Mr. Goldstein did not come here as a stranger. Eight and one-half years ago he said he came here and married an Appleton girl.

The speaker said he was not going into a scientific discussion of advertising, but showed how it began in the cradle and ended in the grave.

In order for advertising to be an effective communication he said it must be seen, read, understood and believed. Advertising brings your goods to the customer and it brings also the customer to your goods, he said.

"You can put too much faith," said Mr. Goldstein, "in advertising. If you believe advertising is going to do everything you will be in the cemetery with the rest. Everything has to work toward one end, then advertising can do its part, but alone advertising can't do the trick."

"The competition in retail stores is very keen between the merchant and the advertising end. As a matter of fact they should work together to one end."

"A great many merchants say why advertise? why go to that expense? Why do you take a train? Advertising is a means of communication and will eventually do what the railroads do, save you time."

"A great many advertisers as soon as they advertise they want to see results. You can't always see results right away. You use advertising as a means of communication, to let customers know what you are doing."

"You can't phone or drive around town and tell everybody. If you want to let the public know the most economical way is to use some medium, either the newspaper or handbills and let the public know you have something to sell."

"The old idea of advertising was that it was an investment. The merchants saved up pennies until they got enough money to buy a page in the newspaper and then they expected wonderful results. Now the only sensible and scientific way to do it you have $12 or any other sum is to spend so much a month. Advertising is now considered as a fixed expense the same as light, heat, rent and taxes."

"Whatever is expended in advertising will reduce the overhead expense and the only sensible way to run a business is to cut your overhead expense. Turn your goods every month if you can and whatever money you get in make it work the next time. The only possible way that can be done is by advertising. You cannot turn your stock eight times unless you advertise. That is what advertising is for, to reduce your overhead. Every merchant should take a certain percentage and use it for advertising."

"Instead of cutting down advertising in a slack time a merchant ought to increase it. The rent of the store is just the same, the heat and light are the same, and by advertising you can increase your sales and lessen your expenses."

John Clayton of Chicago closed the program with a talk entitled, "The Dummy Rehearsal" in which he emphasized the right and wrong way of making advertising matter attractive and illustrated it with printed cards and pamphlets.

He called attention to the importance of the advertising manager preparing a dummy for the printer instead of dumping the copy on him in a heap. Among the other phases of advertising on which he touched was ink, paper and engravings. He was strongly opposed to the use of black ink and enameled paper for advertising purposes.

WORKS ALL NIGHT TO PAY HIS WAY THRU COLLEGE

Cleveland—Conviction that he was making a serious mistake in dropping his engineering course at Case School of Applied Science came to Thomas R. Connors just before the fall term opened.

All summer Connors had worked at an apprentice wage in a machine shop; he had no money saved to finance him through the college year. He called on O. L. Allanson, alumni manager of the college, just as a rail road called in looking for graduate to care for one of the Cleveland stations.

A day's study and a night's work is a tough little combination, but Connors tackled it. He took the job. Between 7 p. m. and 4 a. m., Connors sells tickets, calls trains and handles the other station jobs for the railroad. Then he puts in a day studying. Between the two jobs, he manages to sandwich in a little sleep every time he completes each round of duty.

Lowly 5-Cent Piece Still Has A Little Buying Power

Do you remember way back when dad slipped you a nickel on Sunday morning and told you not to spend it all in one place and you felt like a young millionaire with all that money in your pocket? Then were the happy days, but like the cartoonist says, "Them days are gone forever."

It is next to an insult, now to offer the modern youngster a nickel for spending money, even on a weekday. He very likely will have a snappy answer about your generosity that will make your ears tingle and set you thinking about the change in attitude on the part of the young people. But the youngster scarcely can be blamed. When a nickel looked as big as a cart wheel to you, old man, fly Kost was a comparative stranger, but since he has introduced himself in every household the nickel has lost its popularity with the public and with the merchant.

Just the same there are a lot of things that a nickel will buy if you look for them. It is entirely possible to run a shop where nothing costs more than a nickel but perhaps the owner would have to go pretty easy on his expenditures to make both ends meet.

All sorts of little home essentials may be discovered if one knows where to look. To the seamstress who attempts her own sewing, tape measures, thimbles, pins and Merricks thread are not over 5 cents, cotton tape, lingerie tape, underwear buttons, snaps and hooks and eyes may be obtained at the same counter. Two balls of darning cotton are only a nickel and a yard of rick-rack may be obtained for 3 cents.

Hair nets, this will be interesting to all the flappers, cost only 5 cents if you search hard enough and hair pins, big, little, long, broad and invisible are just as inexpensive. With the money saved after purchasing these things one can buy one of those bright aluminum cooking spoons or kitchen forks, cookie cutters, egg-whippers, or some clothes pins to surprise mother.

Even a drug store, with its usually high priced articles has several kinds of cough drops, candy bars, cigars, stick candy, sponges, pencils, pen holders, tablets, boric acid and alum, that can be bought for the lowly 5 cent piece. The picnic lunch may be enlarged by boxes of vanilla cookies, crackers, cracker-jack, or oranges, peaches (two for five cents) and Jonathan apples. A corn cob pipe for a nickel would make the old fashioned father happy.

Even the tiniest tots will be interested in the stick candy and lollypops for which only five of their pennies need go, and refreshing phosphates can be gotten at any soda fountain.

A nickel is small, but it is foolish to despair of its buying qualities until one knows what it can buy.

COLD WEATHER DRIVES MEN TO INSIDE JOBS

Cold weather is driving road construction men and others who have been doing outside work all summer into the paper mills and factories for the winter and as a result employers are in position to select their men, according to C. L. Boynton, employment secretary at the Y. M. C. A. Several high grade men have lately made application to Mr. Boynton for work particularly in the salesmanship line. Some of them are incapacitated and can do only light work.

"Arrest" Idea Perfect Way To Arrange Visit

Dr. L. A. Merdhat, prominent Chicago veterinarian, had the shock of his life while attending the convention of the Northwestern Wisconsin Veterinary Medical association in Appleton Wednesday. He was arrested. And he is still trying to learn on what charge he was apprehended. His face turned pale when a local detective approached and quietly told him that he was to appear at the police station by order of the bureau of detectives at Chicago.

"I'm the poor man gasped. 'Why—what for? What are the charges?' The detective didn't know, but advised him he had better come along and offer no resistance.

"And this happens to me, when I have never been arrested in all my life," he worried. He followed the officer meekly enough and all the way to the police station he tried to recall all the things he had done since childhood to learn what there might be on what he could be prosecuted.

The chief was busy in his private office; therefore he had to wait. All the while he paced the floor nervously. Finally the door opened and the veterinarian was admitted. He was hanging his head, thinking of what his students at the Chicago Veterinary college would say about it.

He was awakened when a heavy hand slapped him on the back and a familiar voice greeted him. "Hello, Doc; When are you going to finish that race you started 25 years ago with one of my desk sergeants in Chicago?"

The chief and the veterinarian shook hands, revealing the arrest, simply a harmless ruse. The men began to talk over old times when Chief George T. Prim was serving on the Chicago police force.

"Oh, that race," the veterinarian said. "I wasn't able to finish that on account of the pointed shoes I wore. But I am going to run it again."

Moral to all police chiefs. If a friend of yours is too busy to see you, have him arrested.

FIRST SCARLET FEVER CASE OF FALL REPORTED

The first case of scarlet fever for the season has been reported to Dr. William C. Felton, city health commissioner, and a home on Packard-st. has been quarantined as a result. A case of diphtheria also exists on Richmond-st. The only other cases of contagion at the present time, as far as has been reported, are a case of measles on Lawrence-st and a case of mumps on Alton-st.

Have You Piles? Then You Have Something To Learn

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Lehnardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEM-ROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Lehnardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Schlitz Bros. Co. today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you — it seldom fails.

Buy Buckwheat—To Increase Your Hard Coal Supply.

EVERY HOUSEHOLDER ought to order at least one-fourth of his hard coal supply in the form of Pea and Buckwheat sizes.

In spite of the utmost efforts of the producers of hard coal it will be difficult—owing to loss of five months' production due to the strike—to supply all the larger sizes of hard coal as needed during the coming winter.

The available quantity of hard coal for domestic use can be greatly increased by utilizing the smaller sizes—Pea and Buckwheat.

Either Pea or Buckwheat can be used by mixing with Egg, Stove or Chestnut sizes. Depending on the grate and draft, from 20 to 40 per cent of these small sizes can be used with the usual domestic sizes of hard coal.

In this way consumer can save money — because Pea and Buckwheat are cheaper—and the amount of fuel available may be made to go much further.
